BODIES OF MAN AND WOMAN FOUND IN FIELD IN METHUEN

Revolver Picked Up Near Man---Police Believe Man Murdered, Woman Then Ended Own Life

METHUEN, Feb. 20.—The bodies of an unknown man and woman, evidently young people, with a revolver beside that of the man, were found in the field off Jackson street extension today. The police believe that the man murdered the woman and then took his own life. A letter was found in the man's coat which was apparently written in reply to one he had received from the woman but had not mailed. It indicated that the couple had been meeting clandestinely for some time and that the man wanted to break off the relations, but that the woman wanted him to end their lives. The man wrote that he did not want to do that as he had a good wife and a happy home but he said he would meet her once more and hoped that their difficulties could be settled without troubling anyone. This afternoon the police identified the body of the woman as Mrs. Katherine Wallace, wife of William Wallace of Jackson street. The man was apparently 23 years old and the woman 28.

CAPT. BURNS FINED $25

Charged With Assaulting Henry J. Keyes

CASE HEARD IN POLICE COURT THIS MORNING

Burns Appeared—New Charge With Breaking and Entering and Larceny Held in $500 Bonds Till Tomorrow

Capt. J. Edward Burns, captain of Engine Company 1, located in High street, was arraigned before Judge Enright in the police court this morning charged with assaulting Henry J. Keyes, and Mr. Burns' trial formed the most interesting episode in the proceedings. At the conclusion of the testimony, the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $25. There were several witnesses including the parties and the story of the affair as told by them is as follows:

Mr. Keyes, the complainant, was the first to take the stand. He said that he resides at 3 Fort Hill avenue and that on the 27th day of January last he went to the High street engine house to see one of the men there on business. According to the story of Mr. Keyes, he remained in the house for about three-quarters of an hour and while he was standing near the engine, Mr. Burns came in. Mr. Keyes was talking to Messrs. Ismond and Ambrose, both of whom are house men there, when Capt. Burns approached the three and addressing the plaintiff, inquired what he had been saying about him. Mr. Keyes said that he replied that he had not been saying anything about the captain, or anything to that effect, whereupon the captain seized him and put him out of the building. Mr. Keyes testified that the defendant had grasped him by the front of the collar and had torn his shirt collar and bent a tie pin which he was wearing at the time. He had these articles of clothing and the pin in the court room and exhibited them to the judge. The next witness was A. D. Ismond, a hoseman at the High street engine company house, and he testified that the plaintiff was talking with him and Mr. Ambrose when Captain Burns came in and later asked Keyes what he had been saying about him. He said that in ejecting Mr. Keyes the captain had caught him by the arm and shoulder and pulled and pushed him to the door.

Mr. John Ambrose, another hoseman, on the stand testified that Keyes did not go out as though he wanted to, but that he held back a little or appeared to have a tendency to hold back. He said that when the captain asked Keyes what he had been saying about him, the plaintiff replied that what he had said, he had said, and that when ordered out, Keyes had said that he would go when he had finished his business.

The defendant himself was the next to take the stand and tell his story. He entered the engine house at about a quarter to nine, he said, on the evening in question and saw the three men talking near the engine. He said that he went up stairs, changed his clothes, and then came down again and approached the group and addressing Mr. Keyes, asked him what he had been saying about him. Mr. Keyes, he said, replied "What I've said, I've said." Then the defendant testified that he had requested Mr. Keyes to break off a bunch of it and say it to him, and that he had then ordered him out of the place. When Keyes failed to obey promptly, the captain said that he had grasped him by the arm and shoulder and pulled him to the door, and that Keyes had then braced his hands against the door. The captain then ducked under the other's arm and grasping him by the front of the collar, gave him a pull that loosened his hold and got him out. He said that he thought that he heard the man's collar tear in his clutch. Mr. Burns also said that the other resisted a little but not enough to amount to anything.

When he was ordered to pay a fine of $25, Captain Burns appealed the sentence and was bound over to the superior court, being allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Attorney John W. McEvoy represented the plaintiff and Lawyer Dennis J. Murphy appeared for the defense.

For Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering and larceny was the charge against Thomas J. Burns and Martin P. Dunn and they were arraigned in the police court today and pleaded not guilty. The articles were alleged to have been taken from one Alfred Dube on February 13, from his room in the building at 228 Central street. The articles were a pair of cuff links, several pins, buttons and about three dollars in money.

Dube testified to the fact that he had lost the articles and that on the day in question he had left his room in the morning and had locked it. When he returned at night, he said he had found the door open and the articles gone. Samuel Osmond, who said that he occupies the room next to Dube, identified one of the defendants, namely Burns, and said that he had seen him and another man enter Dube's room on the afternoon mentioned at about two o'clock. He said that they opened the door with a key and locked it when leaving. He could not identify Dunn as the other man.

Inspector Walsh testified to the arrest and said that both had admitted going to the building but that Dunn said that he had remained on the second floor. Burns said that he had been told that some one on the other floor above wished to see him and that was the reason for his visit. A little girl, daughter of the proprietor of the lodging house, said that she had seen Burns there on that day but not Dunn. Inspector Walsh also said that Burns had in his possession a key which opened the door of the room from which the articles had been taken. He exhibited the key in the court room.

The two were held in $500 for their appearance at tomorrow's session of the police court.

Held for Superior Court

Harvey W. Burnett, who has been arraigned on charges of breaking and entering and larceny several times and each time had his trial continued while the police raked up further charges, was in again this morning. This time he was alleged to have broken into the place of Arthur Gilbert in Tyngsboro and to have taken therefrom articles of clothing and other things. From the building of Fred Emerson of Tyngsboro he took other articles of clothing, etc. It is said. The prisoner admitted that he had broken into both places and that he had taken some of the articles. Judge Enright found probable cause and held the man in $500 for the superior court. During the interval before his trial the other charges will be looked up.

Trio Fined $15 Each

Some sort of a fracas took place in a house in Appleton street and the police took a quarter from there last night. They were arraigned in the court room this morning on charges of drunkenness, and two of them, women, pleaded not guilty. The men pleaded guilty. One of them was allowed to go after the drunk was filed against him and the other three defendants were fined $15 apiece.

Patrick Morrison was charged with drunkenness and also it was alleged that he had not been properly caring for his wife. He was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail and ordered to pay $5 weekly toward the support of his wife. Agnes Richards was sentenced to five months in jail and Frank McBride paid a fine of $5.

CALL TO THIS CITY

Eliot Church Wants Man From Maine

Rev. Chester B. Emerson of Saco, Me., has received a call to the pastorate of the Eliot Congregational church in this city. Mr. Emerson has been pastor of the First Parish Congregational church in Saco for three years.

He met four members of the Eliot church committee in Boston and the pastorate was offered to him.

He informed the committee that he could not decide until he conferred with the standing committee of his own church, and that he would accept or reject the offer within 10 days.

Yesterday he notified the committee of the Saco church and a meeting will be held this week. The parishioners of the First Parish church will urge him to remain. He has been successful since he accepted the pastorate three years ago, the congregation being one of the largest in the two cities. A parish house has been built and a $15,000 organ installed in the church. The Eliot church carries with it much more salary than Mr. Emerson received in Saco. Friends of the pastor, however, believe that he will decide to remain there for several years longer.

MYSTERIOUS ORDERS FROM HUERTA HALTS DEPARTURE OF MADERO

Ex-President Still a Prisoner at Mexico City---300 Persons Were Released From Prison

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20.—The fate of Francisco I. Madero, the deposed president of Mexico, was still in the balance this morning.

Preparations had been made at midnight for his departure with the members of his family into exile, but these, although they had been ordered by General Huerta, the new provisional president, were suddenly halted by mysterious orders from the chief executive.

The ex-president, therefore, until long after daylight remained in the capital, but his wife and two children had left for the port of Vera Cruz.

Senora Madero and the rest of her party of exiles had waited impatiently for more than two hours for Francisco Madero to appear, but they were informed verbally by former Foreign Minister Pedro Lascurain, acting on the orders of Provisional President Huerta, that the ex-president would be prevented from joining them on their journey.

Senora Madero Wept Profusely

Senora Lascurain said he was unable to give any explanation of the delay and fearing the intentions of General Huerta in regard to her husband, Senora Madero wept profusely. She and her party then left the station and went back to the city.

Only the most optimistic residents of the Mexican capital pretend to believe that the substitution of Victoriano Huerta for Francisco Madero will result in the restoration of peace throughout the republic. It appears to be taken for granted that Emiliano Zapata, the irreconcilable rebel, will continue at the head of his powerful force in the south, while Dr. V. Gomez, by the issue of his proclamation claiming the presidency has rendered conditions in the north somewhat problematical. Those familiar with the propaganda of the northern rebels expressed the belief that Pascual Orozco, Inez Salazar and other leaders may not be satisfied with the selection of only one of their comrades, David de la Huerta, as cabinet minister.

On the other hand it is well known that the men who have been operating in the north are tired of fighting and have repeatedly said their main object was the removal of Francisco Madero from power.

War May Be Resumed

The new administration appears not to be inclined to temporize with the rebels. It declares that all possible will be done to effect a reconciliation, but in the event of the failure of its efforts in this direction it proposes to renew war against all of them with more vigor than ever.

Already federal troops have been sent to Cuernavaca to prevent the occupation of that city by the rebels. In the meantime efforts have been made to convince Emiliano Zapata that he should order his men to lay down their arms and return to work.

The new government has been proclaimed officially in every state of the republic and practically all the governors and the military commanders have telegraphed to General Huerta declaring their allegiance to him.

300 Prisoners Released

After the manner of newly installed governments, that of General Huerta began with the liberation of political prisoners and the proclamation of a general amnesty is expected at any moment. Over 300 political prisoners have been released from the penitentiary and military prisons in the capital while from Vera Cruz are to be brought those who were imprisoned with Felix Diaz in the castle of San Juan del Ojito on the failure of the Diaz revolt in that city.

Madero Still a Prisoner

Only three of those arrested by General Aurelio Blanquet and General Huerta at the moment of the overthrow of Madero remain in custody. These are Francisco Madero himself, Josepino Suarez, the ex-vice president and Gonzales Garza, who was governor of the federal district and who incurred undesired enmity owing to his close affiliation with the political group known as La Pora and which was directed largely by Gustavo Madero, the brother of the ex-president, who was executed yesterday.

The students of the military school at Tlaxcala who initiated the revolt in the federal capital 12 days ago have been acclaimed as heroes by the residents of Mexico City. Already a monument to the memory of those of them who lost their lives in the long drawn out battle. The survivors are applauded by the people wherever they appear on the streets and are everywhere showered with confetti and flowers from the balconies as they pass.

Two Armies Fraternizing

The soldiers of the two armies that only a couple of days ago were fighting are fraternizing today and describing the events of the bombardment from their different points of view. No disorder has been reported and the city has rapidly resumed its normal aspect, although many concerns have found it impossible to recommence operations.

Amabassador Wilson, who has played such a prominent part in bringing about the agreement between General Huerta and Felix Diaz expresses his keen pleasure at the restoration of peace. In this he is joined by every member of the diplomatic corps, all of whom have reported to the governments the cessation of hostilities.

MAYOR O'DONNELL ILL

Municipal Council May Not Meet Tomorrow

Because of the illness of Mayor James M. O'Donnell, and the absence from the city of Commissioner James E. Donnelly, the apportionment of department appropriations for the year may go over to next week. Mayor O'Donnell is confined to his bed with bronchitis and laryngitis and Commissioner Donnelly has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the funeral of a relative.

The council is scheduled to meet tomorrow afternoon and the meeting was called for the purpose of considering department estimates. The matter of estimates has been deferred from one meeting to another and some of the departments would, perhaps, be cancelled, but for the fact that the character permits departments to incur liabilities to an amount not exceeding one-sixth of the total appropriation made for similar purposes in the preceding year. This provision holds good until March 15 and must have the authority of the municipal council.

SEAGRAVES AUTO GIVEN TEST

New Combination Chemical and Hose Machine Tried Out by Fire Officials Yesterday

Although two fire alarms tried to break up the proposed tryout of the Seagraves combination chemical and hose wagon which was scheduled for two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the test was completed and the members of the party who accompanied Commissioner Barrett were given the additional sensation of a hurry-up ride to a fire. The route traveled by the Seagraves automobile was the same as that taken by the Robinson machine on last Monday.

The starting point for the trip was the branch street fire house and the huge machine was loaded down with a party of 18 whose combined weight approximated two tons when Chauffeur Little cut loose on "high speed" for the School street hill. After climbing this incline the party took a trip over the Fletcher street station to pick up District Chief Saunders and his learned that a telephone alarm had just been sent in from the Meyers Throat Company. At Commissioner Barrett's suggestion the chauffeur threw on his high speed and the party went off on a breakneck ride for the scene of the fire. To say the least the trip was invigorating and whatever dust was collected by the various members of the party was not raised from vehicles which kept in advance of the Seagraves car. The alarm, however, proved to be only a small brush fire and the party re-emerged for the climb up the other difficult hills in Lowell. On the way down Middlesex street Chauffeur Little demonstrated how slow he could travel with the gears on high speed, driving for several hundred yards at the rate of five miles per hour.

The hill at Holyrood avenue, said to be the steepest in Lowell, was next visited and here was the only place of the day where the driver was obliged to change from "second speed" to "low." The hill was ascended successfully, however, as well as all the other elevations in Belvidere.

Centralville heights was the next testing ground and the Seagraves car found no difficulty in climbing Third, Tenth and Twelfth streets on "second speed." On the steep Tenth street hill Commissioner Barrett requested a dead stop in order to see if the machine could resume its headway, and again the car proved its strength by immediately continuing its way as soon as the power was thrown on and the brakes released. Before leaving Centralville the water works were visited and the machine and its live freight was weighed. The total weight registered 11,550 pounds, the machine itself weighing 3650.

The Seagraves car is larger than the Robinson make and carries six cylinders where the other has four. This fact does not necessarily imply, however, that the former will prove more efficient as a fire protector. The Seagraves car carries 1000 ft. of regular, 3/4 inch, 40-gallon tank of chemicals, 200 feet of chemical hose and 36 feet of ladder.

D. Arthur Burt of Boston was the Seagraves people's representative at the tryout yesterday. Mr. Burt is the eastern representative of his firm and announced that he had placed Seagraves machines in Lynn and Wellesley. The man at the wheel was Charles D. Little who handled the big six cylinder, air-cooled machine in masterly fashion.

KNIGHTS ENTER SUIT
Against Printers for Circulating False Stories

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—A member of the Knights of Columbus caused the arrest on warrants here yesterday of two men who, it is alleged, printed and circulated during the last presidential campaign, a report that members of the order were compelled to subscribe to an oath hostile to American institutions. The defendants, Charles McConnel and Clarence H. Stage, are charged with criminal libel, and were held in jail by a magistrate for a hearing today.

It is charged that the defendants issued the alleged libel in circulars from a printing establishment in West Philadelphia. During the last campaign the oath the Knights of Columbus were said to take in joining the order was circulated throughout the country. The national officers of the organization denied that any such obligation was taken by the members, and denounced the report as a "malicious and wicked lie." Charles B. Dows of Philadelphia made the affidavit on which the warrants were issued.

To Protect Theatre Patrons
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Rigorous protection against fire is proposed for patrons of motion picture theatres in this city in the rules and regulations virtually agreed on by the district authorities. These include the detail of a special policeman at each theatre at the expense of the theatre management, the replacing of window exits by doors, limitation of number of patrons at each performance, and abolishment of standing billboards outside the theatres. The latter, it is declared, furnish a serious obstruction to the quick emptying of the building.

Receivers were appointed for the firm of George A. Alden & Co. of Boston but the mention of the London and Para firms in this connection was an error.

DANDRUFF
GERMS MUST GO

In America the dandruff germs must go. The war of extermination has been declared. The battle has begun, and already thousands of intelligent Americans have permanently rid themselves of this affliction.

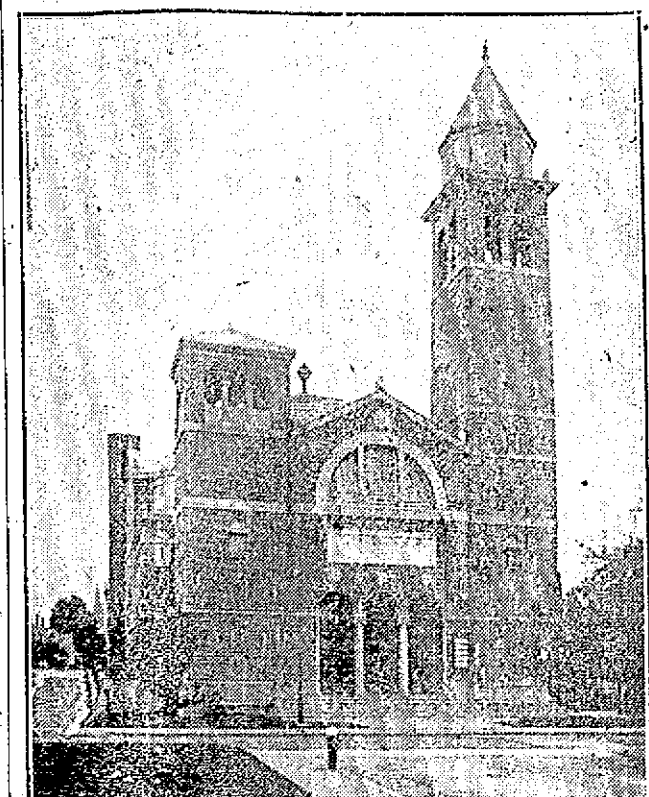

Today it is no more necessary for a man to have dandruff in his hair than to have a tarler on his teeth. Dandruff can never be cured until the small, aggravating and indomitable dandruff germ is conquered and destroyed.

And millions of dandruff germs have been destroyed, thanks to the great scientist who gave to the world Parisian Sage, the only real dandruff cure and hair grower the world has ever known.

If you have dandruff, Parisian Sage will cure you in two weeks, or your money back.

But besides ridding the scalp of dandruff, Parisian Sage is guaranteed to stop itching hair and itching of the scalp. It is not a dye. It is a prime favorite with women of refinement. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and beautiful, and is not sticky or greasy.

AYER BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Interesting Session Held Last Evening—Address by Attorney Wyman of Boston

A very interesting meeting of the Ayer board of trade was held last night in the board's quarters in the latter town and was very largely attended. The Ayer board is trying to boom the town and improve its railroad facilities.

A feature of the evening was a very instructive address on "How Railroads Build Business" by Ferdinand A. Wyman, a Boston attorney.

The speaker's address was in part as follows:

The primary policy of the American railroads is to develop the territory which they serve. To provide better facilities for transportation helps immensely in the growth of the prosperity of a community; and a growing community means increasing traffic for the railroad. Only if the community progresses can the railroad earn its dividend; the only way a railroad can prosper is by bending all its energies to the up-building of its territory. The railroad system serving a community has the greatest stake of all in the future of the community. Other industries can if need be seek other markets, but the railroad must risk it all on the success of the community. The railroad lines of New England have no other ambition than to build up New England as a whole by working out a system of transportation to serve it as a whole. If they did not truly believe that by a unified system of operation there could be brought about a greater development than New England has ever known they could not have considered their expansion policy a wise venture. They have cast their lot in with New England and the only way they can win out is by providing a better system of transportation than New England ever could have hoped for in the old days of separate roads.

The president of the New England railroad lines has seen service in the great west. They well understand in that country that the only way in which a railroad can prosper is to get in touch with the business interests of the territory it serves and do everything in its power for the development of its resources. The railroads must always be working to increase their business by working with the community. The business of the community is the only asset which the railroad has. If the business of the community dwindles the railroad will have nothing left but two streaks of rust. Other industries may go into other markets, but the railroad is anchored where it is. If the railroad can help advance the community it may hope for profit. If it retards the community, it is doomed to failure. American railway practice, developed by nearly a century's experience, is strikingly alert and resourceful in advancing its ends. The railroad must always be a business builder. It has transportation for sale, and it must create its market. It is keenly appreciated that a railroad is closely and inextricably identified with its territory; that the interests of the company and of the public served are one and the same. The railroad can prosper only when its public prospers; that prosperity is dependent upon service and that in order to promote prosperity in its territory it must render adequate service; and that in turn the community, in order to prosper, must encourage conditions for the railroad that will assure sufficient revenue to give it a chance to flourish.

The way in which improved facilities promote the material development is aptly illustrated in the case of the New Haven. When the present management entered upon its remarkable policy of costly improvements in road and equipment it was commonly supposed that in a territory so highly developed industrially there could be no prospect of a materially greater development, but that the improvements would justify themselves almost solely in the largely operating economies derived from greater efficiency. It turns out, however, that the transportation efficiency thus achieved has tended to promote industrial development in the New Haven's territory to such an extent as to show a highly significant increase in traffic density.

What the industrial Bureau is Doing

Apparently there are no limits to the possibilities of this industrial policy in contributing permanent assets to the community and correspondingly enhancing its prosperity. More than two million six hundred dollars in new industries was brought into New England in 18 months. This achievement represents the net result of one phase of the efforts made by a new agency organized to do just that sort of thing. The agency bears this name: "The New England Lines Industrial Bureau." It is one of the fruits of the unified management of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the Boston & Maine railroad and the Maine Central railroad.

To make widely-known the wonderful attractions of the summing place of New England, the advertising bureau of the New England lines has spent many thousands of dollars in the newspapers of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and the middle west. The burden of these advertisements is and has been that New England is the vacation land. They invited the reader to come to New England to spend his vacation, assuring him that he would find here everything that the heart of the vacationist could reasonably desire.

Working for New England

Altogether the New England lines to build up their own trade are working for a better New England, as no other institution is working. They want to be counted in with the commercial organizations in every movement for advancing New England. A modern railroad has to go out and get business; and it has to fight for its traffic. A modern community should stand behind its railroad in the fight it must make for the markets of the world. It may be no more than enlightened selfishness but they want bigger business in New England so as to get greater traffic. They want to open up New England to the continent so that it can get business. They want to give it cheaper transportation so that it can get business. The Fortunes of War

The city of New York, where more clothing is manufactured than any other place in the United States, has been tied up for 12 weeks by a strike of the journeymen tailors. This means a great shortage of clothing for this Spring season.

During the second week of the strike we went to New York and for "spot cash" bought 300 suits worth from $12.50 to $18.00. These suits are all this Spring's goods, in blue serge, fancy worsteds and chevots, in Norfolk and regular styles.

We guarantee these goods not to fade and to give entire satisfaction.

We put these suits on sale $10.00 today at.....

der adequate service; and that in turn the community, in order to prosper, must encourage conditions for the railroad that will assure sufficient revenue to give it a chance to flourish.

The way in which improved facilities promote the material development is aptly illustrated in the case of the New Haven. When the present management entered upon its remarkable policy of costly improvements in road and equipment it was commonly supposed that in a territory so highly developed industrially there could be no prospect of a materially greater development, but that the improvements would justify themselves almost solely in the largely operating economies derived from greater efficiency. It turns out, however, that the transportation efficiency thus achieved has tended to promote industrial development in the New Haven's territory to such an extent as to show a highly significant increase in traffic density.

What the industrial Bureau is Doing

Apparently there are no limits to the possibilities of this industrial policy in contributing permanent assets to the community and correspondingly enhancing its prosperity. More than two million six hundred dollars in new industries was brought into New England in 18 months. This achievement represents the net result of one phase of the efforts made by a new agency organized to do just that sort of thing. The agency bears this name: "The New England Lines Industrial Bureau." It is one of the fruits of the unified management of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the Boston & Maine railroad and the Maine Central railroad.

To make widely-known the wonderful attractions of the summing place of New England, the advertising bureau of the New England lines has spent many thousands of dollars in the newspapers of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and the middle west. The burden of these advertisements is and has been that New England is the vacation land. They invited the reader to come to New England to spend his vacation, assuring him that he would find here everything that the heart of the vacationist could reasonably desire.

Working for New England

Altogether the New England lines to build up their own trade are working for a better New England, as no other institution is working. They want to be counted in with the commercial organizations in every movement for advancing New England. A modern railroad has to go out and get business; and it has to fight for its traffic. A modern community should stand behind its railroad in the fight it must make for the markets of the world. It may be no more than enlightened selfishness but they want bigger business in New England so as to get greater traffic. They want to open up New England to the continent so that it can get business. They want to give it cheaper transportation so that it can get business. They want to give it better facilities so that it can deliver the goods. They want to be considered as one of New England's business institutions of New England for New England and by New England.

The prosperity of New England is undeniable. The manufactured products of these six states in the census year 1910 reached a value of $2,576,655,356—nearly 13 per cent. (12.5) of the total for the entire United States; $10,572,052,600. Massachusetts alone produced $1,150,520,335 or more than half the amount for all New England. This enormous annual creation of new wealth by working up raw materials into finished products, chiefly accounts for the extraordinary prosperity of this part of the country. Massachusetts is the fourth state in the Union in manufacturing rank, being surpassed only by New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Hinks Life to Shut Off Gas

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The plant of the Lynn Gas and Electric Company in West Lynn was nearly wrecked yesterday afternoon when a terrific explosion in the water gas building, caused by the gas backing up in the pipes, broke all of the windows in the building and caused a loss of $1500 damage.

A second explosion was averted by the quick action of Garrett Wall, who although severely bruised from being hurled to the floor when he was working on the second floor, turned off the gas cocks and shut off the escaping gas.

He then jumped from a second-story window to the ground.

INCREASE FRENCH MILITARY FORCE

Pres. Poincare in First Message to Parliament Tells of Need of More Soldiers

PARIS, Feb. 20.—President Poincare today made a message to parliament today made some pointed references to the necessity of increasing France's military force.

After setting forth his conception of the present time and the necessity for a more extensive power he alluded to the noble traditions of the republic and its services to justice as an educational force, letters, art and finance. He then referred to the responsibilities of the present time and quoted the advice that "peace is not decreed by the will of one power." It was impossible, he said, for any nation to be effectively pacific unless it was always ready for war.

France with diminished power and exposed by her own fault to dangers of humiliations would, he said, be France no more. It would be, he continued, a crime against civilization to allow the nation to decrease its forces while other nations developed theirs without cessation. He alluded to the army and navy and then alluded to the responsibility of France having labored silently during many months "among the perils of a remarkable crisis." The message had been approved by the cabinet council and was countersigned by Premier Briand.

KIRK BOOTT TO SPEAK

At Meeting of the Lowell Board of Trade

IS GRANDSON OF ONE OF LOWELL'S FOUNDERS

Mid-Winter Meeting Will Be Held in Associate Hall on Next Monday Evening

Mr. Kirk Boott, grandson of Kirk Boott, one of the founders of the city of Lowell, has been engaged to address the members of the board of trade at their mid-winter meeting which is to take place in Associate hall on Monday evening, Feb. 24. Mr. Boott is now chairman of the committee in charge of the South American tour of the business men of New England. The subject of his address on Monday evening will concern itself principally with the advantages which the business men of New England are neglecting when they do not strive to reach the markets of South America with their products. He has for a long time been located in Brazil and is well versed in his subject. The securing of this man to speaking at the meeting and banquet is a triumph for the board of trade for he is sure to enlighten those who hear him.

Another speaker who has been secured is Timothy E. Burns, a man who has perhaps the greatest knowledge of railroads and their operation of any man in this section. He is general manager of the New York, New Haven & Hartford and Boston & Maine lines for New England. For the past three years the Lowell board of trade has been trying to get this man to address a meeting and each time has been unsuccessful. On this occasion they set the date of the meeting on Feb. 24, which is the only open date which Mr. Burns has for the next three months.

The dinner on Monday evening is complimentary to members of the board in good standing and all are requested to be present. The members of the board attending at once because of the holiday Saturday, there will be but one delivery of the mail.

A. O. U. Celebration

Division J. A. O. U. of Order of Hibernians will celebrate its 40th anniversary on Feb. 21. It is the oldest division in Middlesex county and the plans for the anniversary are quite elaborate. The division was organized in 1873. Refreshments will be served and there will be a good musical and literary program. Donald E. Hogan, the division president, will preside.

MINES UNDER GUARD

50 Released From Prison

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 20.—Fully 50 persons taken by the military in connection with disorders in the Point Creek coal country were released during last night and today, leaving about 70 in the temporary prison at Point Creek Junction. A complication appeared today with the widely circulated rumor that union labor men from all parts of the state would meet here next Saturday to protest against the maintenance of the military in the coal country. It was said that Governor Glasscock and General Ebbot were prepared to bring troops to the capital on that day if it was deemed necessary.

INJURED DURING STRIKE

Hearing on Petition of John Connor

The bill introduced by Representative Victor J. Lewis of this city, which calls for compensation for Private John Connor, who was injured while performing his duty during the Lawrence strike, was given a hearing by the committee on military affairs at the state house in Boston yesterday.

The hearing took place at 10:30 o'clock and Rep. Lewis argued his bill. He said that at the previous hearing before the board of examiners no evidence had been introduced to show, on the part of the board, but what the injuries received in performance of duty were such that Private John Connor of Co. K, 6th regiment, should receive recompense from the commonwealth to the amount of $15, including doctor's bill and wages he should have received.

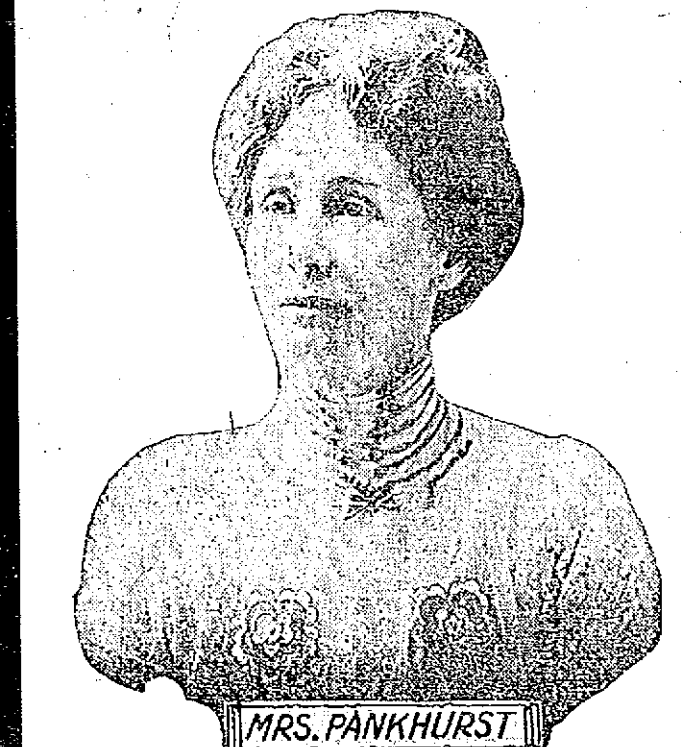

The chairman of the committee on military affairs is Senator Norwood.

A number of pension bills were also heard in the morning by the committee on cities, among them being nine concerning firemen. The committee took no action or decision on any of the bills, and will not do so until an executive session is held at which time the members of the committee will talk matters between themselves.

MRS. EMMELINE PANKHURST CLAIMS
SHE BLEW UP CHANCELLOR'S HOUSE

CARDIFF, Wales, Feb. 20.—"We have blown up the chancellor of the exchequer's house," said Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, addressing an enthusiastic meeting of suffragettes here last night. "The authorities need not look for the women who actually did it. I personally accept full responsibility for it."

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that if she were sent to penal servitude she would go on hunger strike.

"The government will then either have to set me free," she added, "or let me die. If I drop out a hundred women are ready to take my place."

Two Arrested
LONDON, Feb. 20.—Suffrage paid another havoc-working visit to the botanical gardens today and fired a large refreshment pavilion which burned to the ground. Two women were arrested.

The two women taken into custody gave their names as Lillian Lenton and Joyce Locke, aged 22 and 23 years respectively.

Joyce Locke, when committed for trial by the judge hurled a book at the magistrate which narrowly missed him. She fought desperately in her removal to the cells.

On a previous occasion, Miss Locke threw one of her shoes at an Aberdeen magistrate, before whom she was brought on the charge of being in possession of explosives in the hall where Chancellor Lloyd George was to speak.

At that time she hurled her other shoe at the head of the clerk of the court.

MY FOURTH ANNIVERSARY

$5.00 TROUSERS FREE

When I opened my Lowell store on the 13th day of February, 1909, I made the people certain promises. As my anniversary rolls around each year, I like to recall those promises publicly so that you may judge as to whether or not I have departed from them during the past year. I look upon my anniversary also as a good occasion upon which to renew those promises for the year to come, so that old customers have always the positive assurance of getting at least as good service as that which pleased them so much in the past. To old and new customers alike, there is always the implied promise of the additional improved service that time must bring to every progressive business.

AS I START MY FIFTH YEAR in the city of Lowell, it is gratifying to me to know—

That I have stayed in Lowell four years at least, with further indefinite stay guaranteed, as I promised.

That I did not fizzle out in three months, six months or a year, as my competitors predicted from time to time, as I outlived their first and shorter guesses.

That I am still a live advertiser, able to use and able to pay for the same generous space I used when I opened in Lowell.

That the time did not come when the people would be so painfully aware of the impossibility of my promises, as predicted by competitors, that I could not get enough responses to pay for the ink the publishers used in those advertisements. I believe every merchant should be a newspaper advertiser. The bigger newspaper I help to make, the bigger city I help to make Lowell. I shall continue to do my share in making bigger newspapers.

That I am still giving the same beautiful worsteds, style and quality, that competitors said four years ago I would give only a short time, to get the people coming to me.

That I still have such confidence in my ability to fit you that I still can afford to make you a new suit every time my help make a mistake on anything you buy in my store.

SUIT AGAINST COAL TRUST ENDED

Government Dismisses Charges
Against the Philadelphia &
Reading Company

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Unless day when upon application of counsel new proceedings are instituted the effort for the government, the United States court here dismissed the suit of the so-called coal trust ended yesterday.

Philadelphia & Reading Co. in which it was charged that the company was violating the commodities clause of the railway rate law. The government claimed that the railroad company was violating that section of the law which forbids a line from transporting commodities in which the company had an interest. The government sought an injunction restraining the railroad from transporting coal dug from its own mines and in this connection named as co-defendants the allied interests of the railroad company.

The order dismissing the suit was issued by Judge J. E. Satter of Ohio who is sitting temporarily in place of one of the judges who is ill. The court explained that the order is without prejudice and will not prevent the government from bringing another action on the same facts.

NONCOMBATANTS HAVE SUFFERED SEVERELY
DURING THE FIGHTING IN CITY OF MEXICO

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 20.—Non-combatants have suffered severely during the fighting that has followed the beginning of the revolution. The battle has been fought in this heart of the city, and scores—perhaps hundreds—of dead on either side, and tens of thousands of wounded and peaceful citizens have in many instances been killed. The actual loss of life will probably never be known, as there has been little opportunity to identify the suffering.

A NEW YORK POLICE INSPECTOR
MUST STAND TRIAL FOR GRAFT

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Inspector Dennis Sweeney is the first man holding such high rank in the New York police department to be indicted on charges of graft. He is under $10,000 bonds on charges of accepting money from disorderly resorts in his district and of trying to bribe a witness against him. Two of Sweeney's men, Patrolmen John Hartigan and Thomas Robinson, have also been indicted—Robinson for bribery and Hartigan for perjury, and Sergeant Peter Duffy, also on Sweeney's staff, is under inquiry by the grand jury.

SCARLET FEVER AND MILK SUPPLY

Discussed in Reports Submitted by Board of Health Chairman and Milk Inspector Master

In his report on the scarlet fever epidemic, part of which was published in The Sun yesterday, Dr. Pierre Brunelle, Jr., considers the epidemic from three view points.

First—From the view-point of medicine as to the possibilities of contagion and infection of scarlet fever; also including the milk question.

Second—From the view-point of diagnosis in medicine of scarlet fever.

Third—The unfairness of political interests in this epidemic of 1912. Dr. Brunelle's report is made part of the annual report of the board of health.

The report states that scarlet fever virus "surpasses any other eruptive disease, except perhaps smallpox, in its tendency and portability. Not even the most complete disinfection practical can kill all the germs or virus in an infected room or house, and, any process which will destroy 75 per cent. or 85 per cent. or at most 90 per cent. of the germs, if we may call it so, one must be content with."

"The germs may live for years, consequently it can readily be seen, in a city where scarlet fever is with it all the time either in sporadic or epidemic form, there remains always a large number of foci of infection, which, under proper climatic conditions, may flare up at different points of a community and spread quickly into an epidemic."

It is well known that such a disease may run higher in certain quarters of a city than in others, therefore, whoever is unfortunate enough to deliver milk along these infected quarters, immediately comes under the law of suspicion, and investigations follow. Coincidences of such may lead to unjust and unwarranted conclusions.

Milk Dealer's Troubles

"In this epidemic unfortunately for a certain milk dealer, who at all times showed himself ever ready to help and assist the health authorities, and whose milk plant is simply excellent, surely second to none in the state, his milk runs through a hot bed already seeded down with scarlet fever. Starting along the heavy part of the daily deliveries in the latter part of August, there were discovered by after-attending physicians, cases of pronounced scarlet fever on Hellenus and Hastings streets, these real centers of the stronghold of scarlet fever. These persons had been associating around not knowing they had the disease. Similar cases of walking scarlet fever were reported, living on Grace, Andover, Bartlett, Willow, Fremont, Central, Ennell, and Dracut streets. No doubt through these people the disease was thrown everywhere. From the first of August and the early part of September, crupped on a few cases every day all over the city, mostly in the outskirts, but strikingly so in the Highlands and in Melville. Around these cases, as time proceeds, other cases begin to group themselves in clusters. In stretch of 2250 linear feet in a continuous line including both sides of a street into another street, in a close neighborhood appear as many as 12 or 14 cases. Other clusters run in numbers, 10, 8, 5, 7, 6 and 4.

"By far, the heavy part of the epidemic is included within a well defined district. On a line starting from the Middlesex street depot westerly to Baker street then southerly on a line to Wedge street, then easterly on a line to Chelmsford street, and on a line along Chelmsford street northeasterly to the point of starting. Notably the congested parts of such as the block-increment district within this quarter where the milk man delivers milk are practically free.

"This milkman's route has been estimated to supply one-eighth of the population of the city. His supply is about ten times as large as the average milkman's.

"All these clusters over the city which group around the first case as a nucleus show a well defined incubation, in between the many to the one. Or all the number of instances in the same family wherein a second case was reported, excepting three cases, the previous case to the first shows a well defined period of incubation. Such second cases number about 41 clear examples.

"The above citations indicate pretty clearly that the one first case must have carried the disease to the others, suggesting closely similar conditions of persons who would associate together, and again with others who were next infected. These again through the same ways of human nature infected more and so the infection spread.

Where Disease Was Prevalent

"The Flats, the French-American population in Little Canada, Pawtucketville and Centralville, though heaping heavily in these localities shows practically a clean slate. The congested districts, around the stores and boarding houses which he supplies also show practically a clean slate.

"The disease runs mostly through the outskirts, principally in the Highlands, Melville and next Centralville heights, or, in other words, through the so-called better class where contact and association might figure. At the other classes that drink the same milk remain healthy and free from the disease. In contention, it may be said that the people who hardly show any scarlet fever in comparison with those who do, might be immune, by reason of previous disease. The birds of these parts as compared with the other parts of the city where infection prevails should answer this question to the satisfaction of any impartial mind.

Milk Bottle Dangerous

"So accustomed have we become to the present milk package that we are inclined to forget it is a comparatively recent innovation. When the glass bottle came into use, we were taught to believe all our troubles were at an end, for we had a nice, clean-looking, transparent container that seemed the acme of sanitary excellence. It has since been learned, however, that the glass bottle might be a source of real danger, as well as a great deal of annoyance, so that now a serious effort is being made to find a single service milk package, one that can be used once and thrown away. But this package as yet does not comply with the requirements of the case. The most serious indictment against the glass bottle is that it is apt to become infected in many ways and thus spread disease. Furthermore the bottles are difficult to clean. They are very fragile and in addition to the loss from breakage, the failure to return many bottles adds considerably to the expense. The collection of the empty bottles is a constant source of annoyance and trouble, also a considerable item on the wrong side of the ledger. The liability of the milk bottle to convey infection is its most serious disadvantage. The bottle may become infected in a household in a great variety of ways. To cite instances: a person with diphtheria or scarlet fever may drink from the bottle or it may be wiped with a cloth that has been infected from a case of typhoid, or it may be rinsed with infected water. Milk bottles are sometimes used to hold urine, sputum and other discharges from the body; some of them give evidence of having held whiskey, moon alcohol, gasoline, paint, turpentine, carbolic acid, etc. Some of them are very dirty.

Can System Preferred

"If such a bottle is again filled with milk, without proper disinfection, grave consequences may ensue. No body of three men with the right of retinue are omnipotent enough to insure proper and positive disinfection. In all these 'missed' cases of contagious diseases the milk bottle is a very likely source of infection. But when and how to locate it? It is a system which has been pushed onto the milk business with a good deal of trumpeting. It may cause disease with everything in proper shape at both the raiser's plant and the milkman's plant. At least with the much-abused can and measure system, each householder was required to clean the vessel which received the milk and his or her ideal of cleanliness was limited there. But now the thrifty and clean person returns a clean bottle for another. God knows where it has been, and what it contained before being filled with milk. "Truly, the can measure system well regulated is better and preferable in many ways to this milk system, which was heralded as a panacea for all ills of the milk business. This neat looking package, often full of disease germs, has been brought upon us in a false line, and the beginning is certainly doomed to go. At last with the old measure and can system, each milkman had his cans and measures in his possession all the time, and they could easily be kept clean. The householder was also responsible for his own vessels which received the milk and his idea of cleanliness was his own."

Milk Inspector's Report

Melvin F. Master, inspector of milk, vinegar, etc., says in the course of his annual report rendered to the board of health, that he has analyzed twenty-five hundred and fifty samples of milk have been analyzed chemically for the percentage of total solids and butter fat. Several samples of milk, selected from milk wagons show the presence of added water. These cases were prosecuted. Fifty-six samples of milk were taken from restaurants, and showed slight violations of the laws, but the restaurants were notified and no prosecutions were made. About 250 samples of milk were examined during the year. Dr. Slack's methods were used. During the scarlet fever epidemic over 100 samples of milk were examined and adulteration was found. Staphylococcus and diplococcus bacilli and in a few cases streptococcus were found. Beginning Dec. 19, 1912, and continuing through the year, the pasteurizing of a portion of one milkman's supply was under the supervision of the milk department.

Milk Licenses Issued

Over 1000 applications for milk licenses were sent out during the month of February to the stores of Lowell. During March and April 709 stores were visited and licenses issued where desired. There were five prosecutions during the year. There were 42 samples of dairy products analyzed. No violations were found. One prosecution followed. Case appealed to the superior court.

Need of Dairy Inspection

The recent scarlet fever epidemic should forcibly impress on our minds the need of dairy inspection. For two months during the year, through date one dealer pasteurized part of his milk each day. He was compelled, through no fault of his own, to remedy a condition that should never have been allowed to exist. In places like Boston and New York where milk must come from long distances, it may be safer to pasteurize, in fact, it is necessary for a large portion of the consumption. But here in Lowell, most of the milk is collected within a radius of 11 miles or within team haul. The oldest milk should not be more than 12 hours old when it reaches the milk dealer's plant. Within 15 hours more the milk has been delivered. If this milk has been properly looked after during the milking, and is immediately and properly cooled after the milking, it should be in good condition, free from dirt, and a high bacterial count, when it arrives at the milk dealer's plant. We have little complaint of with our milk dealer's handling of the milk when he has it at his plant. The principal trouble at present is with the dairy. If conditions are improved at the dairy, our milk will need pasteurizing but rarely. It is very easy to inform the milk men to look after his raisers, but he is unable to accomplish much, as the producer will tell him that if he is not satisfied with the milk delivered to him, he can cease taking it, as the producer has other men who will take his milk or he will send it to Boston. It would seem that a competent dairy inspector could remedy much of the present trouble by instructing the farmer how to improve conditions at his milkline.

Cooperation and Competition

A spirit of cooperation and competition could be established between the farmers, milk dealers and health board. If a farmer were given one-quarter of a cent per quart for using a small top pail, one-quarter of a cent per quart for brushing his cows before milking, and icing his milk immediately after the milking, or some such inducement, it might raise the price of milk a half cent a quart, but if the population wants clean milk it must pay the necessary price. In most towns of any size in the state milk is sold for 4 and 10 cents per quart.

A clause in the milk law states that a man producing his own milk may sell it to the consumer if his milk sales do not exceed 20 quarts per day without a license. Now, very frequently a producer has a difference with his milk dealer because the milk dealer asks him to remedy certain conditions in handling his milk. The producer refuses to sell his milk to the dealer any longer and proceeds to come to town every day with his milk, oftentimes with less than 20 quarts, which has been improperly handled. He has no facilities for cleaning his bottles or cans, does not know the laws governing the sale of milk, does not know whether his water supply is safe, sells his milk at whatever price he can get and endangers the health of the community through his ignorance. With a dairy inspector, a record could be kept of all dairy farms, and dangers to the public would be lessened, a course of instruction and enlightenment would gradually be given to the producer of the milk who is now ignorant of the dangers to which he is constantly exposing the consumers or milk.

Dolan, the fastest man on the crack Dartmouth two-mile relay team, had no idea that he could run until Harry Hillman took hold of him. This is not the only man that the old college distance crack has done wonders for. Mark Wright was nothing but a mediocre vaulter when the Dartmouth coach first saw him perform, but Harry saw his possibilities and today Wright holds the world's record in his event. Hillman has the best gym in the world to develop his winter athletes in and for that reason alone a large number of "prep" school track men are attracted to the New Hampshire college.

Baseball and politics is the latest combination. A new baseball league has been formed composed of New York and New Jersey teams. Participants are J. Long Island City, Rough-Riders, Middletown, Newburgh and Kingston, N. Y., are the six teams which at present comprise the league. The new league will be known as the New York and New Jersey baseball league. Mayor Rosslyn M. Cox of Middletown has been elected president of the new organization.

The Carlisle Indian football team will play the heaviest schedule next fall that they ever carried. There are a full dozen games on the calendar, nine of which are away from home. Cornell, Penn. State, Dartmouth, Syracuse, Georgetown and Brown will all be visited by Glen Warner's pupils.

Abe Attell is still sticking to the idea that he is just as good as he ever was. No one or nothing seems to possess the power to force Abe to realize that age is a huge factor in ring activities and that a man cannot go on and fight forever. A few days ago the old featherweight champion declared that he was all through with the fight game, but here he is back again with a battle on his card for next month with a tough little fighter, Ole Kirk. Kirk, out of Kirk, away and Abe thinks he can do likewise. Perhaps Abe has forgotten a little about the rules in any kind of a fight. The contest is always certain to have detractors.

Now that Harvard has decided to accept the offer of the Yale team, the matchmaker of the Lowell A. C. son promises to be on hand to accept a meeting with the winner of Friday night's match.

It is possible the matchmaker of the Lowell club will try and sign Nelson while he is attending the meeting Friday night. The matchmaker Gardner is trying to have Nelson officiate as referee of the main bout and there is a possible chance that the Butler will accept. Whether he does or not it will make but little difference to the principals as they figure that the contest will decide itself. The other bouts on the program are all good numbers.

QUIET ON THE ALLEYS

Bowlers Went "Calling" Last Night

There were only a few games rolled on the alleys last night. Wednesday night is usually a slow time with the pin boys, but three matched games were a small number even for Wednesday. The C. S. Michlines were easy picking for the Heinze-Machines in their scheduled game, the latter winning the total by the score of 1409 to 1224. McCarthy of the winners was high man with a mark of 235.

The Polles and the Brownies rolled their usual six-man teams in the Y. M. C. E. bowling tournament. The Polles proved too strong for their opponents and won the match by nearly 200 pins.

The Draftsmen defeated the Kitson bowlers in a very close game in their Saco-Lowell league roll-off. Woodman of the Draftsmen held the highest three-strike total of 238.

DR. ROLLER AND GEORGE BOTHNER SAY THAT TOE HOLD SHOULD BE BARRED IN WRESTLING MATCHES

BOTHNER APPLYING HALF NELSON AND TOE HOLD

THE ANKLE BREAKER HOLD

Dr. Roller, the crack Seattle wrestler, and George Bothner, the world's champion welterweight, are out with the statement that the toe hold should be barred in all wrestling matches. In talking about the hold recently Dr. Roller said: "I think that within a year or two the toe hold will throw the strangle hold into the oblivion it deserves. The toe hold, although as old as catch-as-catch-can wrestling, has only been played up as a feature in the last four years simply because it enabled Frank Gotch, who developed it to its highest efficiency, to work his way to the championship of the world. I think, however, that Gotch would have eventually become champion even without this terrible hold, thus adding force to my argument that the toe hold produces little except punishment. It is also dangerous for a champion. Suppose he should go into a match with a strong young fellow and have his ankle broken. It would make the novice a title holder in name for the time being and would make the sport ridiculous." Bothner says that he seldom uses the hold unless in extreme cases. But he would prefer to have it abolished. Some wrestlers use the hold mostly to injure their opponents.

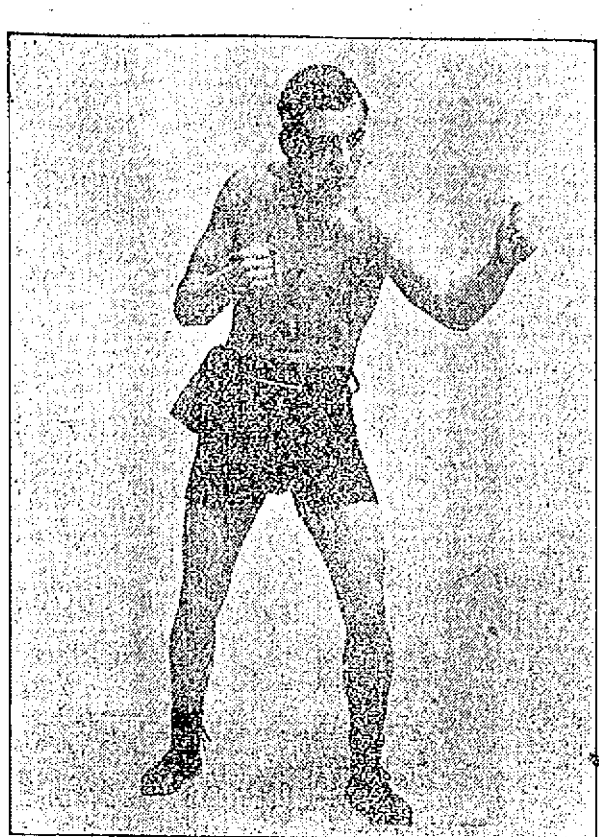

SHOTS STOPPED JACKSON

Story of His Draw Bout With Kincaid

Back in the early nineties a young giant known as "Shorty" Kincaid was working in the mines at Virginia City, Nev. In the evenings he would box with anyone who cared to don the gloves with him. His superiority both as to strength and skill was so marked that the simple miners, few of whom had ever seen a regular prizefighter, looked upon "Shorty" as a marvel and believed that in time he would surely become the champion of the world. They were anxious to see him pitted against a foe worthy of his prowess, and to that end negotiations were opened with Peter Jackson, the great Australian heavyweight champion, who was then in this country. Jackson accepted terms for a six round bout with Kincaid to take place in Virginia City. On the night of the encounter the hall where it was staged was packed to suffocation with Kincaid's admirers.

When the going rang Kincaid stepped to the center of the ring nervously, while Peter approached him with a good natural grace. Peter feinted and Kincaid covered up in a hurry. Jackson edged him three times in succession without receiving any return, and the miners at once realized that their man was nothing but a novice compared with the skillful Australian. Peter played with his opponent for a few seconds, feinted him, open and shot a straight right to the jaw that sent Kincaid tumbling to the floor. "Shorty" was not unconscious, but the punch had temporarily paralyzed him. He tried hard to rise, but his legs would not support him. The referee began to count off the seconds, and immediately several guins were displayed at the ringside.

What are the prospects in Sweden? Why, good! When I first took up my position there were only a very few real class men, but by next season there will be many more to pick from, and that is how you breed your champions. The immense advantage the United States had in Stockholm was that they had so many good men. I had only a few, and it usually worked out that if there was one little slip, one error in judgment, the Swede went out. In the 1500 meters, for instance, there was Ernest Wilde. I don't expect you to agree with me, but I think he was as good a man as any in the race, but he had never competed against the same class, and he failed.

Kohlmachen is one of the exceptions that prove a rule. You may find a Kohlmachen, a Braun or a Boulton at any time. They are natural runners and require little or no coaching. But the thing is to build others up to the same standard so that they have been accustomed to race in or about record time. Then if one fails you may rely on another. This applies even more closely to jumping and field sports generally, where coaching is the first essential. In the jumps at Stockholm America's record breaker, Florio and Wright, did not win, but there were others from the United States who were only fractionally inferior to them. In the pole jump Wright, world's record holder, did not win, but there was a second string who beat every record but Wright's.

When a country has numbers it is sure to do well if the athletes are carefully coached and the whole scheme of athletics is properly organized. That is what we are trying to do in Sweden—to have not one but many great runners, jumpers and weight lifters, all anxious to beat each other, of these is entirely at home with the in England you have the material; you have the numbers. With America in view, and her enormous number of athletes, I should not like to say that your raw material is the best in the world, but it is as good as any, and in most instances it remains raw material. You want some plan to develop it, a strong head to guide the whole system of athletics and coaches in the clubs, colleges and schools who know what is wanted in an athlete and will bring it out. It needs money, of course, but is England a poor country? What little Sweden has done you should be able to do a hundred times over, but first you will have to make your people feel that the Olympic games are worth winning.

How He Keeps Young
Honus Wagner says that plenty of fresh air and the good care he takes of himself keeps him young. Larry McLean says the same thing, only with the reverse English.

Louis Rubenstein of the International Skating Union, who won the figure skating championship of the world at St. Petersburg in 1910, says it is almost impossible for American or Canadian skaters to win the international figure skating championship at the Vienna tournament in February. First, because of insufficient time, and second, because it is extremely doubtful if there are any skaters either in Canada or the United States who are sufficiently conversant with the figures required by the European association at the championship meeting.

He names O. H. Haycock of Ottawa and Irving Brokaw of New York as the figure skaters from America who would be more likely than any others to approach the high standard set at the world's championship competition, and that it is doubtful whether either men, all anxious to beat each other, of these is entirely at home with the in England you have the material; you have the numbers. With America in view, and her enormous number of athletes, I should not like to say that your raw material is the best in the world, but it is as good as any, and in most instances it remains raw material. FULL TRAIN CREW BILL PUT OVER

R. R. Board's Order to Stand for a Year—W. F. Curtin Named Master of Chancery

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The full crew bill which went through the legislature last year and was vetoed by the governor, is not going to be a feature in the legislature this year.

By agreement yesterday between the railroad and the railroad attorneys the bill is to go over to the next general court.

This agreement was reached on the basis that it would be better to allow the railroad commissioners order for full crews when necessary to stand for one year.

Bill for Officials

The committee on railroads, however, came forward with a wallup yesterday by reporting a bill which imposes imprisonment for one year and a fine of $1000 upon railroad officials who bring about unlawful consolidations of transportation companies contrary to the provisions of the Massachusetts law.

The bill is upon the petition of William B. Lawrence.

There is also talk of a house order to investigate the alleged expenditures of money by the New Haven interests in the western part of the state for the purpose of securing support among the mill towns for the western trolley bill.

The house order is taken of among the

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

BY A SPECIALIST

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness and has also equalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Ray Rum, 6 ounces; Lavender Compound, 3 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half ounce. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly in the oil ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Does not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

"PIANO SLAUGHTER"

PIANO TRUST CANT DOWN THE ROXBURY STORAGE SALESROOMS

The Fight Grows Harder and More Bitter

A Great Chance for the Public to Buy at Cut Prices

A piano sale here is always a sacrifice, always a bargain sale, always a mark-down sale. The very nature of the business here is one of sacrifice. The business here is not conducted like the business of a regular piano store where they are expected to make a profit on each piano. We don't let any piano loaf around our floors; a sacrifice tag is slapped on which on the face of it reads competition. And it is sold to the first wise man or woman for the price marked on the tag. Price doesn't mean anything at these sales. We cut and double cut prices on all makes alike; we ask no favors, we want none, and we give none. In sales like these someone's loss is your gain, the profit is all yours. The finest instruments of the world's best makers are in the sacrifice list.

Refuses to Condemn Glasgow

The governor's council yesterday afternoon took issue with Governor Foss over the appointment of a successor to Frank Vera, clerk of the New Bedford district court.

By a vote of 5 to 2 it refused to confirm the appointment of William J. Glasgow as clerk to succeed Vera, who has for a year past been in the storm center of a political row. The governor refused to reappoint Vera.

YOUNG REPORTERS

Tewksbury Grange Awards Prizes For Best Report of Meeting by School Children

The essay on the best report of a meeting of the Tewksbury grange among the children of the latter town came to a close last evening, when the judges awarded the prizes to the winners at a regular meeting of the grange which was held in the church vestry last evening. The meeting was presided over by the master, Percy Haines, and routine business was transacted.

The result of the essay was given as follows: First prize, $1.50, Annie C. Cameron, South Tewksbury; second, $1, Walter Mulino, West Tewksbury, and third, 50 cents, Matilda Kleinberg, East Tewksbury. The judges were: George W. Trull, Neal Clark, Clarence Foster, Mrs. MacLaren, and Miss E. A. Foster.

Here is part of the prize report: On the question of woman suffrage Mr. Alexander said:

"A woman should vote at least on the temperance cause. They should be allowed to vote on the school board and see who would govern and take care of their children."

"Then State Overseer Chapman was asked to speak. He said: 'Just as I was leaving home this evening my wife called after me and said, "You have got a letter from Mr. Trull asking you to go to the grange meeting and speak on equal suffrage." Now, this is no light question and it has to be considered. In all our wars men took up arms to save women. We had no navy and not much of an army. But we won. It took courage to stay at home these days. Nothing disgusts me more than to go into a store and see a woman ask her husband for money before she can buy anything. I vote for equal suffrage every time. One day, as I was in the rotunda of the state house, several Polish men came along. They took off their hats and saluted the old battle worn flags. Later a well dressed American came along. He did not show any respect to our flag until an old soldier came up and spoke to him about it. Some of these foreigners are going to see America for us American people. Women are also taking the places of men as clerks and stenographers. Three great things in the world today are education, energy and ability. Most of our business men of today are grammar school graduates."

"Mrs. Foster read a poem, 'Why I Shall Vote.' Then a vote was taken for and against equal suffrage. Nineteen people voted for it and five people voted against it."

"Mrs. Norris then asked: 'Should immigration be restricted to educated persons?' Nobody could answer it, so the state overseer sang another song. He then said: 'There are 33 million people in the grange. It stands for charity; also good roads and dairymen.'"

"The meeting began at half past eight and finished at 10 o'clock."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE RALLY

Regulars and Opponents Make Statements

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Suffragettes and anti-suffragettes today abandoned verbal gifts and unleashed their heavy artillery. Miss Helen Gardner, one of the suffragist leaders in a statement called attention to the fact that the anti-suffragists had declared that their chiefs had been recruited from the "silk stockings" of New York.

"The anti-suffragists have all the silk stockings they want," said Mrs. Gardner. "As a body we make no such claim to such a distinction. Our movement is not one of society women, although there are many prominent society women with us. Miss Minnie Bronson in charge of the anti-suffragist headquarters, denied reports that leading women were coming from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore to the anti-suffragist rally on board a million dollar special train."

"Whoever got that idea must have thought we are going to rival the suffragists. We are not trying to conduct this campaign by traveling along parallel or any such lines. While they delight in a 'hiking' we are satisfied simply with arriving on the scene in the usual manner and not even a million dollar special could tempt us."

Although the suffragist and anti-suffragist headquarters are on the same street and only a short distance apart, members of the two camps whenever it is possible, are taking opposite sides of the street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Police Capt. Frederick Martins, who was recently accused by the gambler, James Purcell, before the assembly police investigating committee of having accepted graft, died suddenly today. He was in his sixtieth year and death was due, it was stated, to natural causes.

Purcell is now in jail on the charge of murdering his daughter.

NO PARDON FOR KING

Council Votes Against Petition for Freedom

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Cardenio F. King's plea for release was turned down by the governor's council yesterday, 5 to 1.

The inability of the council to agree had become so pronounced on the matter that yesterday Lieutenant Governor Walsh suggested that they take a vote, not on any special type of pardon, but on the question as to whether he should be released or not. It was felt if an agreement could be had on that, that the terms of a possible parole might be worked out. The vote, though, was adverse.

For the pardon—Lieutenant Governor Walsh, Councilors Ham, Goetting and McGreggor.

Against a pardon—Councilors Keith, Frothingham, Simpson, Collins and Denny.

Action on the Beauregard pardon was postponed for one week, because of the inability of ex-Senator Dennis E. Farley or Erving to attend yesterday's session of the pardon committee.

MOTHER OF GIRL HELD

Wanted as Witness in Trial of Doctor

LEWISTON, Me., Feb. 20.—Mrs. Webb Hall, who was arrested by the Lewiston police yesterday afternoon and taken to the police station. She is the mother of Emma E. Hall, charged with whose murder, by means of an attempted illegal operation, Dr. Charles K. Donnell is held without bail.

The arrest did not come as a surprise, as the police had indicated that Mrs. Hall was wanted as a material witness in the case.

Mrs. Hall had barely returned from the funeral of her daughter when she was placed in custody. She was immediately taken to this city where a hearing was held before Recorder Curran of the municipal court. She was held in $1000 for her appearance at the preliminary trial Monday as a material witness. Relatives recognized her.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Members of Industry council, R. A. held their regular meeting last evening in Odd Fellows hall with a large attendance. Regent Michael J. Sullivan presided. A committee was appointed to assist the union class committee and it is composed of the following: John M. McKinley, Dr. Hugh Walker and John Gookin.

Many new features to be added to the regular sessions of the council were proposed and discussed at the meeting last night.

A circular published by the grand council, notifying the members of the union class initiation which is to take place in Mathew hall, Dutton street, on March 27, was distributed to the members present. Treasurer Charles H. O'Donnell announced that he had held the death claims of his late brother and secretary, Frank Fox, on Feb. 15. During the meeting the council stood in silence out of respect for its late brother, Frank A. Fox, who died since the last meeting. Brother Jackson sang the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Lowell Lodge, Odd Ladies will hold its regular meeting on Feb. 24th. All members are requested to be present.

WANT HOLIDAYS AND PENSIONS

Firemen From All Over the State Were Busy at the State House Yesterday

Senator Draper of this city appeared before the committee on cities at the state house yesterday afternoon and spoke briefly in favor of a bill now before the legislature which makes it a compulsory law for all cities to grant one day out of each five days as a vacation for firemen.

Lowell men were the main supporters of the bill. A similar bill was adopted by referendum in all but three cities of the commonwealth last year and Lowell was one of the three cities.

Lawyer J. Joseph O'Connor of this city appeared for the petitioner, and William Sprague and Edward F. Flanagan, both of Lowell, favored the bill. Burton Stearns of Springfield and Geo. W. Hayes of Northampton were also in favor of the bill. Mr. Sprague made somewhat of a speech and was asked by the committee if he would favor the recommendation of the bill to the voters of Lowell. He answered that he would not, but would rather have that than to lose the bill entirely. There was no opposition.

Pensioning of Firemen

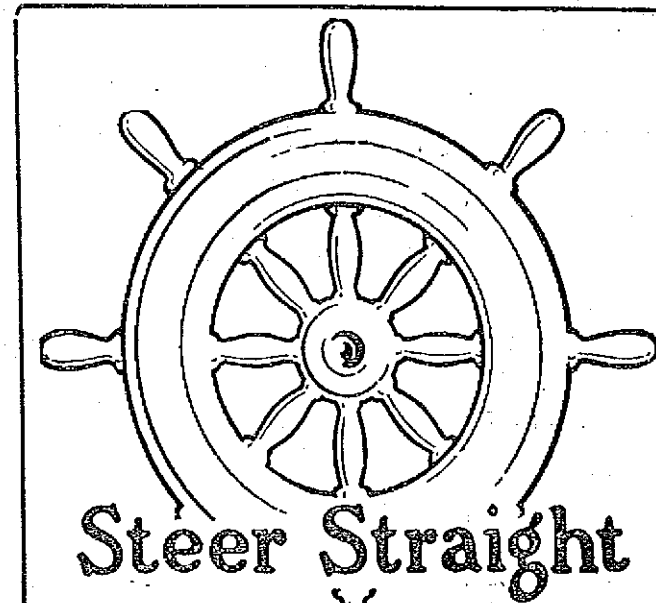

The committee on cities yesterday morning gave hearings on several bills dealing with the pensioning of firemen, both regular and call men, the only one of which to arouse any discussion being the bill of Representative Heneberry of Worcester. His bill provides for a uniform system of pensioning firemen and affects every city and town in the state except Boston. Rep. Heneberry described the bill as one that is needed to bring about a mandatory pension system in the state and one that will take the place of the present laws, both state and local, which are all permissive and which are not liked by the firemen. He called the attention of the committee to the feature of his bill which says that any fireman upon reaching the age of 55, who applies for retirement under the bill and who presents a certificate from a reputable physician may be placed on the pension roll at the amount equal to one-half the salary.

CAPTIVATING FIGURE IS NOW POSSIBLE FOR EVERY WOMAN

Tells How to Give Nature Proper Help So Form Will Quickly Develop

"An unattractive figure" writes Madeline Thorne in Fashion Quarterly, "is the underlying cause of not receiving proper admiration. When these are aroused they quickly respond, and scrawnyness and angular lines vanish, hollow round out and the form assumes the plumpness and symmetry which Nature intended it to have."

A method of treatment that seldom fails, can be prepared in the privacy of the home by making a syrup with one and one-half cups of sugar and a pint of water, in which is added one ounce of grape-nuts. The dose is two spoonfuls before meals."

GAVE PLEASING LECTURE

Wm. B. Goodwin Spoke on Jerusalem

The second in a series of lectures which are being held on Wednesday nights under the auspices of the People's club was delivered last evening by William Bradford Goodwin of this city, the organ expert, and the large audience filled the club rooms. The subject of Mr. Goodwin's talk was "Jerusalem" and every word of it was most interesting and instructive.

To say that the lecture last night was interesting is expressing it mildly for one would of necessity be obliged to hear it to fully appreciate its worth and it cannot be described adequately otherwise. It was one of those rare treats which remain with an audience long after the speaker has uttered the last word in the address and which give the thoughtful person sufficient material to ponder over indefinitely.

The recitation of such a discourse is a pleasure to the one who has listened to it and could appreciate it. Such was the pleasing character of the lecture on "Jerusalem" given under the auspices of the People's club last evening.

The characteristic beauty and general aspect of the country which the speaker described was in some degree shown by the audience by the excellent pictures which the lecturer had with him and which he showed to the small feature of the evening. The vast dry expanses of desert land with its scarcity of water was pictured in contrast to the olive groves and pools of other sections.

In his talk, the speaker described the various places made sacred by the presence of Christ in his life upon earth; he held a series of points visited by the Saviour of Men from his birth to his death on Calvary. He took the life of Christ as his special topic but described and related stories of the land itself in a manner that added realism to the subsequent study of the life and doings of Christ. Mr. Goodwin touched briefly on the churches and their distribution throughout the Holy Land and the stand of the Turkish government in that territory.

The lecture last night was one of those never-to-be-forgotten discourses and it was highly appreciated and enjoyed by all present. The subject of the talk on next Wednesday evening will be "Beyond the Mediterranean." Admission is free and all are welcome.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Clerk Gets Robber With Tray of Gems

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Rush hour throngs on Broadway witnessed an attempted holdup yesterday afternoon, gave first aid to the victim and captured one of the assailants.

The holdup was attempted by two men who entered the jewelry establishment of Henry K. Becker & Co., in the financial section.

They wanted to buy diamond earrings, they said.

A clerk brought out a tray containing $5000 worth for their inspection. They knelt him down, grabbed the gems and bolted for the door, but he regained his feet in time to catch the man with the tray. The clerk recovered the jewelry and held the man until the crowd came to his relief.

The prisoner said he was John Cahill, a tanner, but central office detectives declared that he was Thomas Kelly, a member of the notorious "gas house" gang.

WIFE WILL NOT MAKE UP

Mrs. Rantoul Rejects Reconciliation

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Private interviews between Judge Hall and attorneys and principals which lasted until 4 o'clock last night, and rumors of attempts to settle the case or effect a reconciliation, were the features yesterday at the East Cambridge courthouse of the suit of Mrs. Lois Burnett Rantoul, granddaughter of the poet James Russell Lowell, for an absolute divorce from Edward L. Rantoul on allegations of cruel and abusive treatment.

After her last interview with Judge Hall alone in his lobby, Mrs. Rantoul left the courthouse with her father, Edward Burnett of Jamaica Plain, and the trained nurse who has been in constant attendance upon her.

She had been weeping, and was with great difficulty restraining her emotions.

It is known that she absolutely refuses to be reconciled to her husband.

It is generally understood that Mr. Rantoul is willing to forgive and forget his wife's open declaration of "intellectual love" for his old college friend, Chester Chapin Rumrill, but objects to an arrangement that leaves unrefuted the grave charges of misconduct that Mrs. Rantoul made against him.

He, too, seemed deeply affected after his final interview alone with Judge Hall. He refused to make any statement, as did his attorneys.

THE SUFFRAGIST HIKERS

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 20.—The "On-to-Washington" hikers left here shortly before 10 o'clock this morning, marching through some of the most streets accompanied by a crowd. Wilmington suffragists walked with them to Newport, the next stop, four miles south, where they were received and entertained by Mrs. Martha S. Cranston, president of the Delaware Equal Suffrage association, who lives there, and other members.

Later the pilgrims pushed on to Stanton, two miles, where there was a mild demonstration and then proceeded to Newark, Del., six miles farther south.

It is known that they intend to move on during the afternoon to Elkton, Md., where the suffragists will spend the night. Elkton is 15 miles from Wilmington.

Contractor Duffy Dead

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Lawrence Duffy, prominent contractor of Boston for the last 35 years, and one of the best known residents of the South End, died at his home, 150 W. Broadway street, yesterday, as the result of a shock.

He was 61 years old, a member of the cathedral parish, of the Charitable Irish society, of the Winthrop court, Royal Arch, and of the Ward 12 Concord club. He will be buried Saturday with funeral services at the Cathedral Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

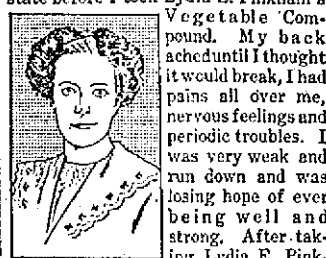

"Boss" Signs as Divorce Cause

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Because her husband would not remove a sign from their living room, she read: "If you want to know who's boss around here, start something." Mrs. Ella F. Zeno, 538 Wolfram avenue, wants a divorce from her husband, William H. Zeno.

Mrs. Zeno also alleges cruelty, giving as an instance a recent quarrel over whether the sign should remain on the wall, in which she asserts her husband struck and otherwise abused her.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bellevue, Ohio.—"I was in a terrible state before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back ached until I thought it would break, I had pains all over me, nervous feelings and periodic troubles. I was very weak and run down and was losing hope of ever being well and strong. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I improved rapidly and today am a well woman. I cannot tell you how happy I feel and I cannot say too much for your Compound. Would not be without it in the house if it cost three times the amount."—Mrs. CHAS. CHAPMAN, R. F. D. No. 7, Bellevue, Ohio.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

300 SAVED BY OPERATOR

4 Firemen Hurt at $75,000 Blaze in Theatre

WORCESTER, Feb. 20.—The coolness and good judgment of Louis Cartier, a film operator, saved the lives of 300 persons, many of whom were women and children, and prevented a panic when fire, necessitating a general alarm, destroyed the Famil Theatre, in the heart of the city last night.

Only a few minutes after the people had quietly filed through the main doors and emergency exits flames burst from the stage into the building, and before they were extinguished, five hours later, had wrecked the moving picture house and damaged a hotel adjoining all to the extent of $75,000.

Shortly before 5 o'clock Cartier was operating the moving picture machine, when he saw a thin column of smoke issuing from among the wings at the top of the stage.

Shutting off the pictures, he stepped from the booth and calmly announced that no more pictures would be shown and that all present would leave the theatre.

The 300 men, women and children quickly filed out of the building. Cartier was among the last to leave. Within a few minutes the building was a furnace of flames.

Two alarms were sounded, but the engines that answered were insufficient and a general alarm was sent in, calling out all fire apparatus.

Less than half an hour after the first alarm had sounded the flames spread to the wing of a hotel adjoining the theatre building. The other parts of the hotel were greatly damaged by smoke and water. It was an hour before the fire was under control and three hours after that before the "all out" signal was rung in.

Four firemen were hurt while fighting the flames. David Gowan and Leonard Babcock were overcome by smoke, but soon revived, and Carl Kieselring and W. L. Adams were bruised and then knocked down by water from a hose that became momentarily unmanageable. Kieselring was taken to a hospital, but was not badly injured.

$10,000 FOR ONE HUG

Woman Sues Wealthy Real Estate Owner

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The price of $10,000 for one hug is fixed in a suit filed by Mrs. Nelson Hopkins against Elshu Beery, a septuagenarian and wealthy real estate owner and operator of New York and Washington. Mrs. Hopkins alleges in her complaint that on Feb. 7, Beery, who owns the building in which she and her husband have their apartment, entered her home on the plea that he desired to inspect the premises and forcibly embraced her. Mrs. Hopkins, who is a comely young woman, believes that the hug should cost Beery at least $10,000 because of the humiliation to which she was subjected.

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN

Margaret: You can overcome the lifeless, stringy, brittle condition of your hair and make it soft, lustrous and luxurious again by the use of this simple quinine tonic. Get one ounce of quinine from your druggist, dissolve in half-pint alcohol, add 12 pint water. Vigorous scalp massage with this tonic will stimulate roots and tissues to healthy action, overcome dandruff, cure itching and itching scalp, and hair will regain former color, gloss, and life.

Maid: Get a small, original package of pyroxal and apply some occasionally at bath-time with thumb and forefinger. This makes short, straight, lustrous hair and curls. Rub blue pyroxal on eyebrows with forefinger will cause them to come in thick and beautiful. Be careful and don't get pyroxal where no hair is wanted.

Grace M.: I know you will like delicate for removing superfluous hairs. This is an inexpensive, painless way to remove hair or fuzz and no harm results from its use.

Irene: Impurities in the blood cause the condition of which you speak and this is corrected by the use of our no. 1. At economical old-fashioned tonic and system regulator can be made at home by dissolving one ounce of karoine in a half-pint alcohol, then adding a half-pint sugar and enough hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful before each meal soon rids the blood of impurities and gives you strength and energy. When the blood is cleansed of impurities the skin becomes clear and the complexion takes on a healthy tint.

Miss T.: No. 1 would not use paint of any make. Rouge and powder only cover defect—a spurious lotion removes them, tones the skin, permits the pores to breathe, removes impurities and restores the natural color and the action is permanent.

Places the sallow, "muddy" appearance with the pink and white bloom of health. For a cure of pimples (which you can get from your druggist) put into half-pint of hot water to which are added two spoonfuls of pyroxal, makes the lotion which has helped many society leaders to win their reputation for perennial beauty. Try it today and you will never again spend money for powders.

Mother: Use the same shampoo for your little girl's hair that you do for your own. The only perfect shampoo is composed of a teaspoonful of castile soap dissolved in a cup of hot water. When this mixture, which contains no "free" alkali, as do so many advertised shampoos, is poured on the head and rubbed up into a lather, it not only cleanses the hair and scalp, but invigorates the roots. I have never used a shampoo which leaves the hair as clean and fluffy as does this simple home-made wash.

Ethel: You can overcome your eye troubles, the weakness, redness and burning accompanied by a dull, lifeless appearance, which you describe, and make them bright, strong and clear by the use of a few drops of this mixture daily. One ounce of castile soap dissolved in 12 pint of clear water. It is soothing to weak, tired eyes and a dependable tonic. In that it strengthens the muscles and tones the nerves of the eye.

Dorothy: Do not worry about your face. Redness is no longer the result of painful itching and stinging eruptions. The sufferer from too much flesh now uses this simple, home-made, most positive, harmless fat-dissolver, which leaves the skin firm and the skin free from wrinkles. Dissolve four ounces of paraffin in 12 pint of hot water, add a tablespoonful before meals. This results in reduction without discomfort and the action is permanent.

RIOTING BY STRIKERS

Many Injured in Boston Streets

TWO STRIKE "PICKETERS" ARE IN RELIEF HOSPITAL

President Zorn of Men's Garment Workers' Union Blames Police For the Trouble

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The first serious riot in connection with the strike of the workers on men's garments took place yesterday afternoon on Border street, East Boston. Nearly a dozen men were injured, two of them seriously.

The two men, both strike "picketers," were removed to the East Boston Relief hospital. One of them, Morris Pazansky of 70 Jay street, West End, had his nose broken and was covered with cuts and bruises. Several stitches were taken to close a wound in his head.

Angelo Muscadino, the other man taken to the hospital, was severely beaten up by some unknown men who were following a patrolman who was escorting workers from the factory at 39 Border street. The trouble began about 5 p. m., when girl operatives were leaving the shop.

The policemen were placing the girl strike-breakers in automobiles when the crowd in the middle of the street became suddenly a fighting, yelling mob. Among the others injured, besides Muscadino and Pazansky, were Israel Shulsky of the North End and Henry Kandler of 19 Auburn street, West End.

President Zorn of the Men's Garment Workers' Union gave out a statement last night in which he blames the police for the trouble, alleging that one of the patrolmen urged rowdies to beat up the strike pickets. He said that the matter will be brought to the attention of Commissioner O'Meara.

TO ARBITRATE STRIKE

Conference Today to Select Third Man

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania lines east and Albert Phillips, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and firemen, went into conference here today to select the third man who will comprise with them the board of arbitration to decide under the Erdman act the firemen's demands of the eastern railroads for increased pay and additional firemen on large locomotives. Should they fail to choose the third arbitrator within five days the federal commissioner of labor and the chairman of the interstate commerce commission must select the man to fill the place. Within ten days from the selection of the third man, the board must begin its hearings and within 30 days it must make known its findings.

After the arbitrators had down their decision, W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood, plans to call a meeting of the heads of other railroad organizations to consider proposed amendments to the Erdman act. Among the amendments proposed is one to extend the time limit within which the board must make its findings from 30 to 60 days and one to enlarge the board to include at least six men.

SHERIFF BEATEN BY INSANE MAN

Battle With Demented Man Who Wrested Engine From Crew—Was Torn From Throttle

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. Feb. 20.—Alvin Olsen, a demented man of giant build, wrested the control of a locomotive from a train crew here today, but after a terrific battle with the sheriff and deputies he was torn from the throttle before he succeeded in running the engine upon the main line. A passenger train passed on the main track, near the scene of battle, a few minutes after Olsen was taken into custody. The man boarded the locomotive at a switch a short distance from here. The train crew hurriedly notified the sheriff. The latter officer was severely kicked and beaten before he succeeded in overpowering the would-be engineer.

JAMES H. REVILO DIED SUDDENLY

Well Known Traveling Man Passed Away at St. John's Hospital—Sick Only a Few Hours

James H. Revilo, a soap salesman, whose sudden death is briefly referred to elsewhere, was removed from his apartment at the Richardson hotel to St. John's hospital at about six o'clock this morning and his death occurred at about 9:45 o'clock. It was stated at the hospital that his death was due to chronic kidney trouble. Mr. Revilo was a man of sterling character and won many friends by his sunny disposition. Some called him "Sunny Jim" and it was a well earned sobriquet, as one might well imagine by a never-failing, all-year-round sunny disposition. He was a prince of good fellows and he loved Lowell as though it were his native home. He was always glad to come to Lowell and made his headquarters here as much as possible. He sold soap to all of the mills and other concerns in this city and enjoyed the same happy business relations as he enjoyed in social life. None knew him but to praise him for his honor and honesty in thought, word and deed. None knew him but to call him one of Nature's rare and real noblemen, and his friends in this city were legion. It was in his usual good spirits yesterday that he was heard to say that he was feeling "hip top." He had just returned from New Orleans where, with his wife, he attended the Mardi Gras. He was taken ill about 3 o'clock this morning and Fred Folsom, manager of the Richardson hotel went to his room. He was suffering great pain and finally decided to go to the hospital. Mr. Folsom remained with him throughout and in the writer said: "Mr. Revilo, although a great sufferer, did not utter a word of complaint. His sunny disposition remained with him to the last. He was patient in his sickness as in life. We will all miss him, for he was a character worth knowing."

SENSATION IN SENATE

Lt.-Gov. Stops Minister To Providence, R. I., by From Talking Governor Pothier

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 20.—Lieut. Gov. O'Neill caused a sensation in the senate today when he stopped Reverend Henry of the Emmanuel Baptist church of this city, who was making the opening prayer, and said: "Stop making a political speech." The minister had prayed for the separation of the rum traffic from this state and for the day when Indiana would refuse to sell to men the right to make other drunkards, murderers, filling prisons and benevolent institutions.

The lieutenant governor, who had been showing signs of impatience, vigorously banged the marble slab with his gavel and commanded the clergyman to stop. He ordered the journal to be read and Mr. Henry immediately left the chamber.

A dozen or more alleged members of the "arson trust" are yet to be brought to trial.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 20.—Gov. Pothier today wrote President E. J. Chamberlain of the Grand Trunk road inviting him to come here and appear before the general assembly to obtain his proposition for the completion of the Southern New England railroad. In a recent letter to the governor, President Chamberlain suggested that if the money for the completion of the road, amounting to about $6,000,000, could be raised in New England the work would be continued. Gov. Pothier proposed to have the state become second guarantor for the railroad's bonds.

BODIES OF MAN AND WOMAN FOUND

IN FIELD IN METHUEN

Revolver Picked Up Near Man—Police Believe Man Murdered Woman Then Ended Own Life

METHUEN, Feb. 20.—The bodies of an unknown man and woman, evidently young people, with a revolver beside that of the man, were found in the field off Jackson street extension today. The police believe that the man murdered the woman and then took his own life. A letter was found in the man's coat which was apparently written in reply to one he had received from the woman but had not mailed. It indicated that the couple had been meeting clandestinely for some time and that the man wanted to break off the relations, but that the woman wanted him to end their lives. The man wrote that he did not want to do that as he had a good wife and a happy home but he said he would meet her once more and hoped that their difficulties could be settled without troubling anyone. This afternoon the police identified the body of the woman as Mrs. Katherine Wallace, wife of William Wallace of Jackson street. The man was apparently 23 years old and the woman 28.

The body of the man was later identified as that of Asquith Spence, a section hand at the Arlington mills. The identification was made by a brother of Mrs. Wallace.

DEFENSE IN THE DORR TRIAL

Strongly Contended That Dorr Could Not Have Gained Anything by Marsh's Death

SALEM, Feb. 20.—The defense continued today its effort to discredit the theory of the state that William A. Dorr, accused of the murder of George E. Marsh of Lynn, hoped to profit from the fund which was held in trust for his aunt, Ophelia Marsh, with whom he lived in Stockton, Cal. James S. Crane, a real estate dealer of Stockton, testified yesterday that he was the custodian of the fund which would go to Miss Marsh on July 20, 1915, or earlier in the event of the death of George E. Marsh. He said that Dorr had been employed in his office some years ago. Crane was recalled for further cross examination when the trial was resumed this morning.

Trust deeds and other documents which had been executed by the Marsh brothers, James and George E. in order that the estate of the former might be left to his adopted daughter, who under the California law could not inherit the property direct, were placed in evidence and were the basis of Attorney Barney's cross examination as he attempted to show that Dorr could not have hoped to benefit by the death of the Lynn man.

Dist. Atty. Attwell who is conducting the case for the commonwealth announced that he had 15 other witnesses to call and that he hoped to complete the presentation of his case by Friday night.

The defense having established that Miss Marsh executed a quit claim deed, sought to show that she would not have been benefited by the death of George E. Marsh, as the estate of the late James Marsh would be held to be part of the estate of George Marsh and at his death would go to his heirs.

A letter which Dorr is said to have written to George D. Marsh in regard to property he wished to exploit was presented and the signature identified by Crane as Dorr's. The case and cap introduced in evidence yesterday as having been the property of George E. Marsh and the defendant Dorr, respectively, were again brought out for identification today. Harry A. Dubois testified to having seen a cap and a cane lying in the road near the West Lynn marshes on the afternoon of April 11 while passing in an automobile. He thought the exhibits in the case were the same articles which he saw that day. On cross-examination he said that several automobiles were passing along the road at the time. Milton D. Ray, a third son of the Lynn garage keeper, positively identified the prisoner as the man he knew as Dorr and whom he had seen and talked with at the garage. Another witness, Earl Wells identified Dorr and declared that he had talked with him at the Bray garage on several occasions. He saw him in the neighborhood of the Marsh house about 10 o'clock on the morning of the day George E. Marsh was killed, he said.

DUTIES OF THE CITY AUDITOR

Under New Ordinance Will be Much More Laborious—New System of Bookkeeping

The system of bookkeeping at city hall, especially in the auditor's office, will undergo a change this year. The auditor will not open his books for the year until the appropriations have been made and while he will adhere as closely as possible to the national system of accounting it will be impossible for him to adhere strictly to it, because of the fact that the appropriations are not made to comply with the system and the charter is not in exact conformity with it.

When the municipal council does out the appropriations the money allowed the different departments will be charged to wages and other expenses, whereas the new system, if it were lived up to thoroughly, would require that the amounts appropriated for street watering, fuel, heating, etc., be charged to the work or expense for which the appropriations are intended.

Then, again, the new system does not provide for the printing of the names of persons who have done business with the city, but the charter requires the names and amounts paid. The auditor, however, allows that these are little things that can be readily overcome and that in time the charter can be made to work in perfect harmony with the new system of accounting. Being obliged to publish the names in the monthly and annual reports of the finance department increases, very materially, the expense of the reports, but it is altogether likely that a big howl would go up if the practice were discontinued for John Jones then wouldn't know how much Isaac Smith got for the flour, or cement, or grain that he furnished the city.

Collection of bills
It is expected that under the new system the city will experience greater success in the collection of its bills; bills that go to make up their city's revenue. When Accountant Morse came to Lowell about three years ago to examine the financial books of the city he found about $7000 in tax bills too old for collection. These bills should have been collected but were allowed to become outlaid and the system was at fault. The auditor did not have any record of the bills because such records were not supplied by the departments.

Under the new system the auditor will have full knowledge of bills owed the different departments and these bills will be charged to the treasurer as provided in section 13 of the new ordinance which reads as follows: "The city treasurer shall demand payment in writing of all accounts due the city; and in case any such accounts remain unpaid at the expiration of two months after such demand, the city treasurer shall report the same to the city auditor, who shall resort to the proper legal methods for collection."

The ordinance also provides that before the issuing of any order on the treasury for the payment of any money from the city treasury on any resolution, ordinance, order or vote, authorizing or directing said payment, bearing the official signature of the city auditor and city treasurer.

Bills in Triplicate
There are quite a number of things included in the new ordinance that will make more work for the auditor's office, but they are all worth the extra work and trouble, especially because they are intended to improve the system of collections now in vogue. Section 27 of the new ordinance provides that all bills for labor, material, also assessments, except taxes, shall be made in triplicate form, the original and duplicate to be left with the city auditor with a list of the same (bill books and lists to be furnished by the commissioner of finance, the triplicate to be retained by the department issuing the bill. The city auditor shall report such bills and give them to the city treasurer and charge him with collection of the same.

In short, the ordinance, which has been adopted by the city council, on the recommendation of Mr. Rex, makes the city auditor the general accountant for the city and he will keep a complete set of books and accounts which shall comprise all of the financial transactions of the city through the various departments under their respective appropriations.

CALLED TO THIS CITY

Eliot Church Wants Man From Maine

Rev. Chester B. Emerson of Saco, Me., has received a call to the pastorate of the Eliot Congregational church in this city. Mr. Emerson has been pastor of the First Parish Congregational church in Saco for three years.

He met four members of the Eliot church committee in Boston and the pastorate was offered to him. He informed the committee that he could not decide until he conferred with the standing committee of his own church, and that he would accept or reject the offer within 10 days. Yesterday he notified the committee of the Saco church and a meeting will be held this week. The parishoners of the First Parish church will urge him to remain. He has been successful since he accepted the pastorate three years ago, the congregation being one of the largest in the two cities. A parish house has been built and a $10,000 organ installed in the church. The Eliot church carries with it much more salary than Mr. Emerson received in Saco. Friends of the pastor, however, believe that he will decide to remain there for several years longer.

$10,000 TO SAVE PIER

Port Directors Admit
Wharf is Sliding

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The $10,000 pier at the Commonwealth docks, South Boston, has started sliding into Boston harbor. The directors of the port of Boston have authorized the expenditure of $10,000 to stop the sliding, if possible. It will cost that amount anyway and probably many thousands more before the sliding end of the pier may be safely and firmly anchored. During the first two weeks of this month 200 feet of the massive granite pier wall moved at the alarming rate of an inch a day and has now passed over 20 inches or three feet from its original position as planned when completed.

A portion of the west wall has started in the latter enough to make a slightly noticeable bulge, but it is thought that this is only due to the natural settlement of the wall.

Although the construction work on the pier has been going on for some time, the directors of the port of Boston have authorized an additional expenditure of $10,000 to excavate the fill material to temporarily stop the sliding and to then drive a line of wooden piles down through the two underlying clay strata in an attempt to bind them together. The fact remains, however, that if the movement of the upper stratum begins again these huge piles will be snapped off like toothpicks, and some other means will have to be devised to hold the wharf together.

Supper and Entertainment

A supper and entertainment was held in the vestry of the Lawrence Street, P. M. church last night. The affair which was given under the auspices of the ladies' aid society of the church, was very largely attended. A fine supper was served and a varied musical program was rendered.

Moore and Mrs. L. Dwyer. The officers of the society are: Mrs. J. T. Wilson, president; Mrs. Buchanan, treasurer; Mrs. William Jolley, secretary.

SLED CRASH KILLS BOY

Chum Injured—Sled and Team Collide

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—When their sled collided with the two-horse team of the Pierce Austin, Caswell & Livermore Company, driven by Romer Bassett, 39, of 35 Freeman street, Somerville, on Spaulding street, opposite Hale, yesterday afternoon, Anthony Gorman, 8 years old, was instantly killed and 10-year-old Alfred Brown severely injured.

As the sled struck the team head-on, young Gorman was thrown under one of the rear wheels, which passed over his body. Brown was struck in the forehead and thrown in the path and the other wheel, which crushed his ankle.

Pullman Lynch and Moran of the Roxbury station picked the two boys up. The injured boy was taken to the city hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a severely lacerated forehead and a broken ankle.

The body of the Gorman boy was taken to the home of John Caesar of 17 Walling street, when it was viewed by Associate Medical Examiner Waters and ordered turned over to his parents.

Bassett was arrested, charged with manslaughter and was later bailed out by his employers.

BOYS' MISSION OPENED

At Sacred Heart Church This Morning

The men's mission at the Sacred Heart church, being conducted by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., and Rev. John M. O'Brien, O. M. I., is proving to be a most gratifying success. At all the evening services the church is taxed to its capacity, and the morning masses, particularly the 5 o'clock service, are attended by large congregations. The manner in which the men are turning out is the cause of much satisfaction to the missionaries and the priests of the church.

At last night's services, after the singing of hymns, Rev. Fr. Sullivan gave an instructive and interesting explanation of the third commandment. The speaker told of the reasons why Sunday is set aside by the church as a day to keep holy. He said that on the first day of the week, all Catholics must attend mass and after the service remain away from places where the commandment of God will be violated. Fr. Sullivan also spoke of the advantages gained by carrying religious articles, and urged all to provide themselves with beads, prayer books and other sacramentals.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. O'Brien, who spoke on the Holy Eucharist. Fr. O'Brien said that this sacrament was instituted to show the great love God had for men, and that the latter should appreciate the opportunity offered them by frequently receiving communion. He said that during the mission, the men should go to communion daily, and congratulated those who are so doing.

The service closed with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament by Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I.

At the 5 o'clock mass this morning there was a large number of communicants. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. O'Brien, and he also delivered a brief, but explanatory instruction on the eighth commandment. Communion was given by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I.

The mission for boys was opened at the church at 7:30 o'clock this morning, with the celebration of mass and instructions by Rev. Fr. Sullivan and O'Brien. There was a large attendance. The boys also assembled in the church at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, and instructions were given by the missionaries. The boys' mission will continue tomorrow, and will be brought to a close on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock.

BONDSMAN IS NABBED

Wife Charges Chelsea Man With Larceny

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Henry K. Friedman of Chelsea was arrested yesterday on a warrant obtained by Attorney John P. Feeney embodying charges made by Mrs. Henrietta Zelig, wife of the late Jack Zelig, who was one of the witnesses against Lieutenant Becker of the New York police department, and who was murdered before he could testify.

Mrs. Zelig charges Friedman with the larceny of $600, a part of the bill bond which the says she deposited with Friedman last summer to obtain the release of her husband, who was held at Providence for picking pockets.

When Jack Zelig was arrested in September, her attorney says, Mrs. Zelig gave $300 to Friedman. Of this amount $200, the attorney says, was to go to Friedman for obtaining a bondsman and securing the release of her husband, neither $100 was a present to Friedman for his work on the case.

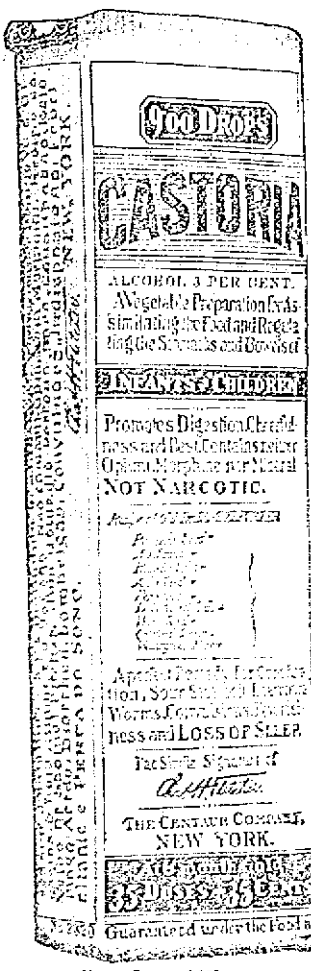

Mrs. Zelig was left penniless at the death of her husband.

Friedman, through his counsel, asked for a continuance until Feb. 27, which was granted by Judge Burke, who held Friedman in $1500 until that date.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

Years of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result: The practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

TO OPPOSE PELLETIER

Congressman Murray
May be Candidate

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The feud between Fitzgerald and Lonsamey and Pelletier, which has existed for some time, though under the surface, took a new turn yesterday.

After a search which has lasted for some weeks, a candidate has at last been found to run against Pelletier for district attorney. The lack of such a candidate is what has caused the chief hitch in the campaign.

The man is to be Congressman William F. Murray.

Not only do the members of the combine believe that in the young congressman they have found a man who can defeat Pelletier, but equally important, the retirement of Murray means another promotion.

It is to be the election of Joseph P. Lonsamey to congress in the by-election to succeed him.

"Bedfast—For Two Years"

Mrs. George Ewell writes:—I know your medicine helped me wonderfully. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep. Had a very poor appetite. Had such an aching between my shoulders and such dreadful backaches. My tongue would be heavily coated every morning and would get red. I am 45 years old. Have been having "chance of life." I do not feel a great deal but your medicine helped me more than all the doctors. I took six bottles of "Favorite Prescription" and three of "Golden Medical Discovery." I can now sleep good at night. My tongue is not coated and four medicines have removed many of my symptoms. I know if I had taken six bottles more I would have been cured. I was about bedfast for two years. Now I do all my work and attend to my garden and chicken. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicine too highly.

SEAGRAVES AUTO GIVEN TEST

New Combination Chemical and Hose Machine Tried Out by Fire Officials Yesterday

Although two fire alarms tried to break up the proposed tryout of the Seagraves combination chemical and hose wagon which was scheduled for two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the test was completed and the members of the party who accompanied Commissioner Barrett were given the additional sensation of a hurry-up ride to a fire.

The starting point for the trip was the branch street fire house and the huge machine was loaded down with a party of 15 whose combined weight approximated two tons when Chauffeur Little cut loose on "high speed" for the school street hill. After climbing this incline the party took a trip over to the Fletcher street station to pick up District Chief Saunders and here learned that a telephone alarm had just been sent in from the Meyers Thread Company. At Commissioner Barrett's suggestion the chauffeur threw on his high speed and the party were off on a breakneck ride for the scene of the fire. To say the least the trip was invigorating and whatever dust that was kicked up by the members of the party was not raised from vehicles which kept in advance of the Seagraves car. The alarm, however, proved to be only a small brush fire and the party re-emerged for the climb up the other difficult hills in Lowell. On the way the Middlesex street Chauffeur Little demonstrated how slow he could travel with the gears on high speed, driving for several hundred yards at the rate of five miles per hour.

The hill at Holyrood avenue, said to be the steepest in Lowell, was next visited and here was the only place of the day where the driver was obliged to change from "second speed" to "low." The hill was ascended successfully, however, as well as all the other elevations in Belvidere.

Centralville heights was the next testing ground and the Seagraves car found no difficulty in climbing Third, Tenth and Twelfth streets on "second speed." On the steep Tenth street hill Commissioner Barrett requested a dead stop in order to see if the machine could resume its headway, and again the car proved its strength by immediately continuing its way as soon as the power was thrown on and the brakes released. Before leaving Centralville the water works were visited and the machine and its live freight was weighed. The total weight registered 11,550 pounds, the machine itself weighing $650.

The Seagraves car is larger than the Robinson make and carries six cylinders where the other has four. This fact does not necessarily imply, however, that the former will prove more efficient as a fire protector. The Seagraves car carries 1000 ft. of regulation hose, a 40-gallon tank of chemicals, 200 feet of chemical hose and 36 feet of ladder.

D. Arthur Burt of Boston was the Seagraves people's representative at the tryout yesterday. Mr. Burt is the eastern representative of his firm and announced that he had placed Seagraves machines in Lynn and Weymouth. The man at the wheel was Charles D. Little who handled the big six cylinder, six-cylinder machine in masterly fashion.

KNIGHTS ENTER SUIT SUCCESSFUL CARNIVAL OPENED AT GRACE CHURCH LAST EVENING

Against Printers for Circulating False Stories

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—A member of the Knights of Columbus caused the arrest of warrants here yesterday of two men who, it is alleged, printed and circulated during the last presidential campaign, a report that members of the order were complicit to subscribe to an anti-American campaign. The defendants, Charles Mezonegal and Clarence H. Stage, are charged with criminal libel, and were held in jail by a magistrate for a hearing today.

It is alleged that the defendants issued the charged libel in circulars from a printing establishment in West Philadelphia. During the last campaign the oath the Knights of Columbus were said to take in joining the order was circulated throughout the country.

The national officers of the organization denied that any such obligation was taken by the members, and denounced the report as a "malicious and wicked lie." Charles B. Dowds of Philadelphia made the affidavit on which the warrants were issued.

To Protect Theatre Patrons

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Rigorous protection against fire is proposed for patrons of motion picture theatres in this city in the rules and regulations this city is to enact by the district authorities. These include the detail of a special policeman at each theatre at the expense of the theatre management, the replacing of window exits by doors, limitation of number of patrons at each performance, and abatement of sland- ing billboards outside the theatres. The latter, it is declared, furnish a serious obstruction to the quick emptying of the building.

Alden & Co., dealers in crude rubber of Boston, also applied to the subsidiary firms of A. H. Alden & Co. of London and Adelbert Alden & Co. of Para, Brazil, was erroneous. Receivers were appointed for the firm of George A. Alden & Co. of Boston but the mention of the London and Para firms in this connection was an error.

DANDRUFF

GERMS MUST GO

In America the dandruff germs must go. The war of extermination has been declared. The battle has begun, and already thousands of intelligent Americans have permanently rid themselves of this filthiness.

Today it is no more necessary for a man to have dandruff in his hair than to have tartar on his teeth.

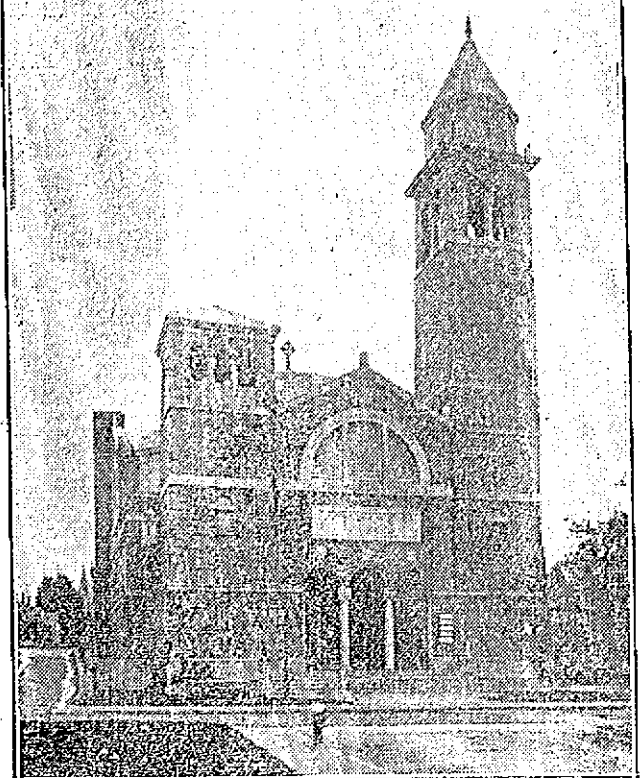

Dandruff can never be cured until the scalp, aggravating and indomitable dandruff germ is conquered and destroyed.

And millions of dandruff germs have been destroyed, thanks to the great scientist who gave to the world Parolan Sage, the only real dandruff cure and hair grower the world has ever known.

If you have dandruff, Parolan Sage will cure you in two weeks, or your money back.

But besides ridding the scalp of dandruff, Parolan Sage is guaranteed to stop falling hair and itching of the scalp. It is not a dye. It is a prima favorite with women of refinement. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and beautiful, and is not sticky or greasy.

THE GRACE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

A two-days' Colonial carnival was opened last night at the Grace Universalist church, and the success of the first night was very flattering to the organizers. The affair is being given for the benefit of the church and the receipts of the first evening were very substantial.

The vestry was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the young women in charge of the various tables and booths were consumed in the Colonial style and their appearance was very attractive. In the early part of the evening supper was served in the church basement and many sat around the festive board. At the conclusion of the meal all repaired to the vestry, where an elaborate entertainment program was carried out to the delight of all present.

The entertainment consisted of a series of tableaux, with appropriate music as an accompaniment, and there were solos by Mrs. Lawrence Jordan, and readings by Mrs. Gage. The tableaux included: "The World Renounced," Mrs. Elmer Trull, Miss Margaret Smith, "Juana," Miss Linda Weinbeck, "Betty Ross Making the First American Flag," Mrs. Trull, "The Tangled Skein," Miss Leah Sturtevant and Roland Black, "Opheleia," Miss Bertha Adams, "Bed Time," Mrs. Trull, Eloise Dion.

Contributors to the musical program were Miss Sturtevant, Miss Eileen Adams, Miss Bessie Adams, Arthur Smith, William Sherwell, Miss Nellie Smith, Miss Elsie Adams, Miss Abbott, Mrs. Parham, Messrs. Parker, Black and Smith.

AYER BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Interesting Session Held Last Evening—Address by Attorney Wyman of Boston

A very interesting meeting of the Ayer board of trade was held last night in the board's quarters in the latter town and was very largely attended. The Ayer board is trying to boom the town and improve its railroad facilities.

A feature of the evening was a very instructive address on "How Railroads Build Business," by Ferdinand A. Wyman, a Boston attorney.

The speaker's address was in part as follows:

The primary policy of the American railroads is to develop the territory which they serve. To provide better facilities for transportation helps immensely in the growth of the prosperity of a community; and a growing community means increasing traffic for the railroad. Only if the community progresses can the railroad earn its dividend; the only way a railroad can prosper is by lending all its energies to the up-building of its territory. The railroad system serving a community has the greatest stake of all in the future of the community. Other industries can if need be seek other markets, but the railroad must risk its all on the success of the community. The railroad lines of New England have no other ambition than to build up New England as a whole by working out a system of transportation to serve it as a whole. If they did not truly believe that by a unified system of operation there could be brought about a greater development than New England has ever known they could not have considered their expansion policy a wise venture. They have cast their lot in with New England and the only way they can win out is by providing a better system of transportation than New England ever could have hoped for in the old days of separate roads.

The president of the New England railroad lines has seen service in the great west. They well understand in that country that the only way in which a railroad can prosper is to get in touch with the business interests of the territory it serves and to do everything in its power for the development of its resources. The railroads must always be working to increase their business by working with the community. The business of the community is the only asset which the railroad has. If the business of the community dwindles the railroad will have nothing left but two streaks of rust. Other industries may go into other markets, but the railroad is anchored where it is. If the railroad can help advance the community it may hope for profit. If it retards the community, it is doomed to failure. American railway practice, developed by nearly a century's experience, is strikingly alert and resourceful in advancing its ends.

The railroad must always be a business builder. It has transportation for sale, and it must create its market. It is keenly appreciated that a railroad is closely and inextricably identified with its territory; that the interests of the company and of the public served are one and the same; the railroad can prosper only when its public prospers; that prosperity is dependent upon service and that in order to promote prosperity in its territory it must re-der adequate service; and that in turn the community, in order to prosper, must encourage conditions for the railroad that will assure sufficient revenue to give it a chance to flourish.

The way in which improved facilities promote territorial development is capably illustrated in the case of the New Haven. When the present management entered upon its remarkable policy of costly improvements in road and equipment it was commonly supposed that in territory so highly developed industrially there could be little prospect of a materially greater development, but that the improvements would justify themselves almost solely in the largely operating economies derived from greater efficiency. It turns out, however, that the transportation efficiency thus achieved has in fact promoted industrial development in the New Haven's territory to such an extent as to show a highly significant increase in traffic density.

What the Industrial Bureau is Doing

Apparently there are no limits to the possibilities of this industrial policy in contributing permanent assets to the community and correspondingly enhancing prosperity. More than two million six hundred dollars in new industries was brought into New England in 1910. This achievement represents the net result of one phase of the efforts made by a new agency organized to do just that sort of thing. The agency bears the name, "The New England Industrial Bureau."

It is one of the fruits of the united management of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the Boston & Maine railroad and the Maine Central railroad.

To make widely-known the wonderful attractions of the summer places of New England, the advertising bureau of the New England lines has spent many thousand dollars in the newspapers of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and the middle west. The burden of these advertisements is and has been that New England is the vacation land. They invited the reader to come to New England and spend his vacation, assuring him that he would find here everything that the heart of the vacationist could reasonably desire.

Working for New England

Altogether the New England lines to build up their own traffic are working for a busier New England than any other institution is working. They want to be counted in with the commercial organizations in every movement for advancing New England. A modern railroad has to go out and get business, and it has to fight for its traffic. A modern community should stand behind its railroad in the fight it must make for the markets of the world. It may be no more than enlightened selfishness but they want bigger business in New England so as to get greater traffic. They want to build up New England to the continent so that it can get business. They want to give it cheaper transportation so that it can get business. They want to give it better facilities so that it can deliver the goods. They want to be considered as one of New England's business institutions of New England for New England and by New England.

The prosperity of New England is undeniable. The manufactured products of these six states in the census year 1910 reached a value of $2,670,055,585—nearly 15 per cent. (12.9) of the total for the entire United States; $10,472,032,000. Massachusetts alone produced $1,190,522,356 or more than

The Fortunes of War

The city of New York, where more clothing is manufactured than any other place in the United States, has been tied up for 12 weeks by a strike of the journeymen tailors. This means a great shortage of clothing for this Spring season.

During the second week of the strike we went to New York and for "spot cash" bought 300 suits worth from $12.50 to $18.00. These suits are all this Spring's goods, in blue serge, fancy worsteds and chevots, in Norfolk and regular styles.

We guarantee these goods not to fade and to give entire satisfaction.

Risks Life to Shut Off Gas

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The plant of the Lynn Gas and Electric Company in West Lynn was nearly wrecked yesterday afternoon when a terrific explosion in the water gas building, caused by the gas backing up in the pipes, broke all of the windows in the building and caused a loss of $1500 damage.

A second explosion was averted by the quick action of Garrett Watt, who although severely bruised from being hurled to the floor when he was working on the second floor, turned off the gas cocks and shut off the escaping gas.

He then jumped from a second-story window to the ground.

Dolan, the fastest man on the crack Dartmouth two-mile relay team, had no idea that he could run until Harry Hillman took hold of him. This is not the only man that the old middle distance crack has done wonders for. Mark Wright was nothing but a mediocre vaulter when the Dartmouth coach first saw him perform, but Harry saw his possibilities and today Wright holds the world's record in his event. Hillman has the fastest even in the world to develop his winter athletes in and for that reason alone a large number of "prep" school track men are attracted to the New Hampshire college.

Baseball and politics is the latest combination. A new baseball league has been formed composed of New York and New Jersey teams. Paterson, N. J., Long Island City, Rockaway, Middletown, Newburgh and Kingston, N. Y., are the six teams which at present comprise the league. The new league will be known as the New York and New Jersey baseball league. Mayor Roosevelt of New York has been elected president of the new organization.

The Carlisle Indian football team will play the heaviest schedule next fall that they ever carried. There are a full dozen games on the calendar, nine of which are away from home. Lodi, Penn., Cornell, Dartmouth, Syracuse, Georgetown and Brown will all be visited by Glen Warner's pupils.

Abe Attell is still sticking to the idea that he is just as good as he ever was. No one or nothing seems to possess the power to force him to realize that age is a base factor in ring activities and that a man cannot go on and fight forever. A few days ago the old former featherweight champion declared that he was all through with the fight game, but here he is back again with a battle on his card for next month with a tough little fighter, Otto Kirk. Kirk has put Kirk away and Abe thinks he can do likewise. Perhaps Abe has forgotten a little affair that happened in St. Louis not so very long ago, in which this same he took Attell's measure.

Talking about the clause that umpires receive while earning their salary, how about the fight referees? Unless there is a clean knockout the third man in the ring is always barked at by somebody, no matter how conscientious his decisions are. In fact the man who handles the rules in any kind of a spirited contest is always certain to have detractors.

Now that Harvard has decided to necept hockey as a major sport and pass out the much coveted "H" to the members of the Varsity team we may expect to see the other colleges follow the lead of the Massachusetts university. When the athletic heads at Harvard see it to make a radical break you may feel certain that the others will not be far behind.

The personnel of the girls basketball team of the V. W. C. A. recalls the day when Lowell High turned out the undisputed girl champions. In those days the local girls could not procure a team which would even give the spectators a run for their entrance fee. Ruth Bailey, the contender for the world's record in baskets from the floor, was one of the officials at last night's game in which the Lowell girls defeated the Haverhill V. W. C. A.

Whether the hearing given at the State House last night in regard to a boxing commission for Boston similar to that in New York will bear fruit is a matter for speculation. Boxing has a great many enemies in the city who have always been active in making trouble for the fight clubs but with the advent of a commission the game would be put on its feet and club managers would cease to worry about the status of their respective associations.

Manager Gray of the Lowell Baseball club has signed up Miller, last season's second baseman, for the coming year. The Lowell manager has been angling for this player ever since the close of the season last fall and has finally succeeded in landing him. In all probability Miller will be played at the third station next spring and Hoyt, who has played both the outfield as well as the infield, will be pushed into one of the outer gardens. Miller should prove invaluable to Manager Gray in rounding out a well balanced defensive team.

Volkman's school's showing in the triangular meet last night with Noble & Greenough and Roxbury Latin must have made some of the old track men which Volkman only succeeded in getting 3 1/2 points against Roxbury Latin's 41 and Noble & Greenough's 15 1/2. Time was when this school would enter five men in a meet and walk away with every first place that there was to be had. Dr. Whalen is certainly missed at the Boston prep school.

Last Night

There were only a few games rolled on the alleys last night. Wednesday night is usually a slow time with the pin boys, but three matched games were a small number even for Wednesday. The U. S. Machines were easy pickings for the Heinz-Machines in their scheduled game, the latter winning the total by the score of 110 to 124. McCarthy of the winners was high man with a mark of 235.

The Polliers and the Brownies rolled their usual six-man teams in the U. S. C. L. bowling tournament. The Polliers proved too strong for their opponents and won the match by nearly 200 pins. The Draftsmen defeated the Kitzon bowlers in a very close game in their Saco-Lowell league roll-off. Woodman of the Draftsmen held the highest three-string total of 295.

DR. ROLLER AND GEORGE BOTHNER SAY THAT TOE
HOLD SHOULD BE BARRED IN WRESTLING MATCHES

BOTHNER APPLYING HALF NELSON AND TOE HOLD

THE ANKLE BREAKER HOLD

Dr. Roller, the crack Seattle wrestler, and George Bothner, the world's champion welterweight, are out with the statement that the toe hold should be barred in all wrestling matches. In talking about the hold recently Dr. Roller said: "I think that within a year or two the toe hold will follow the strangle hold into the oblivion it deserves. The toe hold, although as old as catch-as-catch-can wrestling, has only been played up as a feature in the last four years simply because it enabled Frank Gotch, who developed it to its highest efficiency, to work his way to the championship of the world. I think, however, that Gotch would have eventually become champion even without this terrible hold, thus adding force to my argument that the toe hold produces little except punishment. It is also dangerous for a champion. Suppose he should go into a match with a strong young fellow and have his ankle broken. It would make the novice a title holder in name for the time being and would make the sport ridiculous." Bothner says that he seldom uses the hold unless in extreme cases. But he would prefer to have it abolished. Some wrestlers use the hold mostly to injure their opponents.

SHOTS STOPPED JACKSON

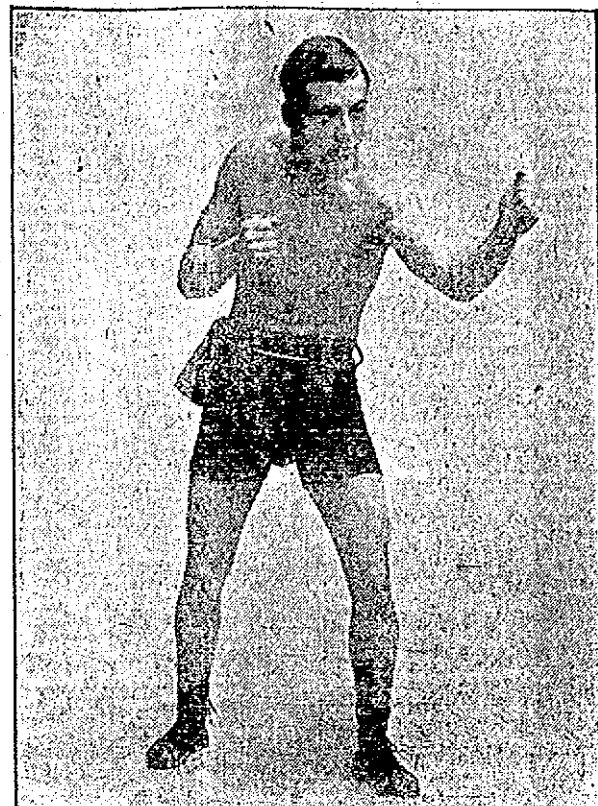

Story of His Draw Bout
With Kincaid

Back in the early nineties a young giant known as "Shorty" Kincaid was working in the mines at Virginia City, Nev. In the evenings he would box with anyone who cared to don the gloves with him. His superiority both as to strength and skill was so marked that the simple miners, few of whom had ever seen a regular prizefight, looked upon "Shorty" as a marvel and believed that in time he would surely become the champion of the world. They were anxious to see him pitted against a foe worthy of his prowess, and to that end negotiations were opened with Peter Jackson, the great Australian heavyweight champion, who was then in this country. Jackson accepted terms for a six round bout with Kincaid, to take place in Virginia City. On the night of the encounter the hall where it was staged was packed to suffocation with Kincaid's admirers. When the gong rang Kincaid stepped to the center of the ring nervously, while Peter approached him with a good natured grin. Peter feinted once or twice, and Kincaid covered up in a hurry. Jackson jabbed him three times in succession without receiving any return, and the miners at once realized that their man was a marvel, but not to be compared with the skilled Australian. Peter played with his opponent for a few seconds, feinted him open and shot a straight right to the jaw that sent Kincaid tumbling to the floor. "Shorty" was not unconscious, but the punch had temporarily paralyzed him. He tried hard to rise, but his legs would not support him. The referee began to count off the seconds, and immediately several guns were displayed at the ringside. "Don't you count that man out," yelled a score of enraged voices, and the demand was emphasized by the flourish of "revolvers. The referee stopped short in his count and stood gazing helplessly at the poststrate form of Kincaid. For eighteen seconds "Shorty" remained on the floor, and then the gong clashed, denoting the finish of the round. Kincaid was carried to his corner and revived. At the call of time he stepped forward and, expecting a swift attack by the negro, shielded himself carefully behind his gloves. He was still badly dazed, and had Jackson gone after him would have proved an easy victim. But Peter had seen the ominous flash of those glancing guns and had time to reflect. Life looked very sweet to him then, and not for worlds would he have cut loose with the necessary punch to down his opponent. He stood with his guard ready, but made no move. "Shorty" seeing that Jackson would not budge, gained heart and proceeded to assault the negro. Peter blocked every attempt to reach his body or face with perfect ease, but that was all. He would not even venture on a light counterpunch lest he might awaken the anger of that crowd. And so the exhibition went on to its close. Kincaid displaying great valor in his attack, and Peter holding himself in leash. At the conclusion of the proceedings the referee declared the bout a draw, and the exultant miners stormed the arena and carried their hero in triumph around the hall. It was a great and memorable victory for the white race.

A TALK ON ATHLETICS

By Trainer Hjertberg,
Former Star

Ernie Hjertberg, former star cross country runner and now trainer for the Swedish Olympic system, arrived in New York recently on a visit and will probably make quite a stay in the United States. As usual, he was filled with enthusiasm about athletics and was particularly warm in his praise of Yankee training methods to which he gives largely the credit for the success of American athletes at Stockholm last summer and at all other places where they compete. Speaking of methods and systems for preparing young athletes, he said: "You must have a definite system of teaching and coaching in athletics if you want to get anywhere near the American standard. In the United States every school, every college, has its athletic coach or manager. He looks after the youngsters, and is able to devote his whole time to the consideration of everything appertaining to success in each particular event. That is what they are aiming at in Sweden. They are starting with the schools, organizing athletics in them; next among the boy scouts, who have an organization of their own; then in the colleges and universities; also in the army. The idea is, so far as possible, to teach all these young athletes how to make the best use of themselves in each particular event.

GILBERT GALLANT CLAIMS NEW

GILBERT GALLANT

The matchmaker of the Lowell A. C. son promises to be on hand to accept his lines out for some sterling matches. Next to the Johnny Dolan-Gilbert Gallant meeting which is creating a big interest throughout New England, the winner of Friday night's match will probably be signed up with none other than the game old Battling Nelson. Nelson will meet Bay Wood at New Bedford on Washington's birthday afternoon. Prior to his meeting with the hard hitting and aggressive little Fall River lightweight Nelson on the program are all good numbers.

"What are the prospects in Sweden? Why, good! When I first took up my position there were only a very few real class men, but by next season there will be many more to pick from, and that is how you breed your champions. The immense advantage the United States had in Stockholm was that they had so many good men. I had only a few, and it usually worked out that if there was one little slip, one error in judgment, the Swede went out. In the 1500 meters, for instance, there was Ernest Wide. I don't expect you to agree with me, but I think he was as good a man as any in the race, but he had never competed against the same class, and he failed."

"Kohlemainen is one of the exceptions that prove a rule. You may find a Kohlemainen, a Braun or a Boutin at any time. They are natural runners and require little or no coaching. But the thing is to build others up to the same standard so that you have been accustomed to race in or about record time. Then if one fails you may rely on another. This applies even more closely to jumping and field sports generally, where coaching is the first essential. In the jumps at Stockholm America's record breakers, Horline and Wright, did not win, but there were others from the United States who were only fractionally inferior to them. In the pole jump Wright, world's record holder, lost the win, but there was a second string who beat every record but Wright's. When a country has numbers it is sure to do well if the athletes are carefully coached and the whole scheme of athletics is properly organized."

"That is what we are trying to do in Sweden—to have not one but many great runners, jumpers and weight men, all anxious to beat each other. In England you have the material; you have the numbers. With America in view, and her enormous number of athletes, I should not like to say that your raw material is the best in the world, but it is as good as any, and in most instances it remains raw material. You want some plan to develop it, a strong head to guide the whole system of athletics and coaches in the clubs, colleges and schools who know what is wanted in an athlete and will bring it out. It needs money, of course, but is England a poor country? What little Sweden has done you should be able to do a hundred times over, but first you will have to make your people feel that the Olympic games are worth winning."

Louis Rubenstein of the International Skating Union, who won the figure skating championship of the world at St. Petersburg in 1910, says it is almost impossible for American or Canadian skaters to win the international figure skating championship at the Vienna tournament in February. First, because of insufficient time, and second, because it is extremely doubtful if there are any skaters either in Canada or the United States who are sufficiently conversant with the figures required by the European association at the championship meeting.

He names O. H. Havcock of Ottawa and Irving Brokaw of New York as the figure skaters from America who would be more likely than any others to approach the high standard set at the world's championship competition, and at that it is doubtful whether either of these is entirely at home with the figures required.

FULL TRAIN CREW BILL PUT OVER

R. R. Board's Order to Stand for a Year—W. F. Curtin Named Master of Chancery

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The full crew bill which went through the legislature last year and was vetoed by the governor, is not going to be a feature in the legislature this year.

By agreement yesterday between the railroad and the railroad attorneys the bill is to go over to the next general court.

This agreement was reached on the belief that it would be better to allow the railroad commission to order for full crews when necessary to stand for one year.

The committee on railroads, however, came forward with a bill yesterday by reporting a bill which imposes imprisonment for one year and a fine of $100 upon railroad officials who bring about unlawful consolidations of transportation companies contrary to the provisions of the Massachusetts law.

The bill is upon the petition of William Lawrence.

There is also talk of a house order to investigate the alleged expenditures of money by the New Haven interests in the western part of the state for the purpose of securing support among the mill towns for the western trolley bill.

The house order is talked of among the enemies of the western trolley bill which was recommended by the recess committee and is one of the big measures before the legislature.

The bill passed the legislature last year and was vetoed by the governor, who subsequently signed the resolve for the recess committee, which reported that there ought to be a consolidation of western trolleys.

Dental Nurses Bill
The entire dental fraternity of the state is sitting up sharp for while the law of the dental nurses bill is going on before the committee on public health.

The state board of registration in dentistry opposes the bill. A committee from the dental societies is backing it. As a preliminary skirmish a protest has been filed with Governor Foss against the state board. It is signed by E. B. Chase, chairman, and Charles M. Proctor, secretary of the committee. It says the recent report of the board against the nurses bill is lacking in dignity.

Fleischer and Sherburne Clash
A tilt between Dr. Charles Fleischer and Representative John Sherburne made the session of constitutional amendments lively yesterday. Dr. Fleischer, speaking for the bill to prohibit appropriations for sectarian institutions, said that if the committee did not report the resolve favorably the petitioners would feel that it was because the committee had been terrorized by the influence of a certain church.

Sherburne quickly said: "I'm tired of hearing certain clergymen maligning this legislature."

Dr. Fleischer said that he had not meant to cast any reflection upon the legislature. He refused, however, to withdraw his remarks.

Tenbury Grange Awards Prizes For Best Report of Meeting by School Children

The essay on the best report of a meeting of the Tenbury grange among the children of the latter town came to a close last evening, when the judges awarded the prizes to the winners at a regular meeting of the grange which was held in the church vestry last evening. The meeting was presided over by the master, Percy Haines, and routine business was transacted.

The result of the essay was given as follows: First prize, $3.50, Annie C. Cameron, South Tewksbury; second, $1, Walter Munn, West Tewksbury; and third, 50 cents, Matilda Kleinberg, East Tewksbury. The judges were: George W. Trull, Neal Clark, Clarence Foster, Mrs. MacLaren, and Miss E. A. Foster.

Here is part of the prize report: On the question of woman suffrage Mr. Alexander said:

"A woman should vote at least on the temperance cause. They should be allowed to vote on the school board and see who would govern and take care of their children."

"Then State Overseer Chapman was asked to speak. He said: 'Just as was leaving home this evening my wife called after me and said, "You have got a letter from Mr. Trull asking you to go to the grange meeting and speak on equal suffrage." Now, this is no light question and it has to be considered. In all our wars men took up arms to save women. We had no navy and not much of an army. But we won. It took courage to stay at home those days. Nothing disgusts me more than to go into a store and see a woman ask her husband for money before she can buy anything. I vote for equal suffrage every time. One day, as I was in the rounds of the state house, several Polish men came along. They took off their hats and saluted the old battle worn flags. Later a well dressed American came along. He did not show any respect to our flag until an old soldier came up and spoke to him about it. Some of these foreigners are going to set an example for us."

Women are also taking the places of men as clerks and stenographers. These great things in the world today are education, energy and ability. Most of our business men of today are grammar school graduates."

"Mrs. Foster read a poem, "Why I Shall Vote." Then a vote was taken for and against equal suffrage. Nineteen people voted for it and five people voted against it."

"Mrs. Norris then asked: "Should immigration be restricted to educated persons? Nobody could answer it, so persons" she sang another song. He then said: "There are 21 million people in the grange. It stands for charity; also good roads and dairying."

"The meeting began at half past eight and finished at 10 o'clock."

He is the author, with Leon M. Lion of "Mr. Jervis," produced at Wyndham's theatre, London, in February, 1911, and "Jack o' Sticks," produced at Cape Town in October, 1911.

There are several standard acts of vaudeville at the Keith theatre, this week. They are acts which have scored tremendously everywhere and which tickle the local theatregoers. The six American dancers are in the category of pleasures, while Billy ("Swede") Hall and Jennie Colborn in the protean comedy "Made Good" are decidedly above the average of entertainers. The Helms are almost too well known to need any descriptive note about their work, while Les Gougetts are novelty instrumentalists who have only recently come to this country from Parisian successes. George F. Hall, the Yankee story teller; Mae Mulligan, singer and dancer; Willard & Cain in "Detectiveism," and Dennis Brothers, aerialists, complete the balance of the program. Good seats may be secured for all of the remaining performances during the week. Phone 25.

WANT HOLIDAYS AND PENSIONS

Firemen From All Over the State Were Busy at the State House Yesterday

Senator Draper of this city appeared before the committee on cities at the state house yesterday afternoon and spoke briefly in favor of a bill now before the legislature which makes it a compulsory law for all cities to grant one day out of each five days as a vacation for firemen.

Lowell men were the main supporters of the bill. A similar bill was adopted by referendum in all but three cities of the commonwealth last year and Lowell was one of the three cities.

Lawyer J. Joseph O'Connor of this city appeared for the petitioners, and William Sprague and Edward E. Flanagan, both of Lowell, favored the bill. Burton Steele of Springfield and Geo. W. Hayes of Northampton were also in favor of the bill. Mr. Sprague made somewhat of a speech and was asked by the committee if he would favor the recommendation of the question to the voters of Lowell. He answered that he would not, but would rather have that than to lose the bill entirely. There was no opposition.

Pensioning of Firemen

The committee on cities yesterday morning gave hearings on several bills dealing with the pensioning of firemen, both regular and call men, the only one of which to arouse any discussion being the bill of Representative Henchberry of Worcester. His bill provides for a uniform system of pensioning firemen and affects every city and town in the state except Boston. Rep. Henchberry described the bill as one that is needed to bring about a mandatory pension system in the state and one that will take the place of the present laws, both state and local, which are all permissive and which are not liked by the firemen. He called the attention of the committee to the feature of his bill which says that any fireman upon reaching the age of 55, who applies for retirement under the bill and who presents a certificate from a reputable physician that he is unable to perform his duties, shall be placed on the pension roll at the amount equal to one-half the salary.

CAPTIVATING FIGURE IS NOW POSSIBLE FOR EVERY WOMAN

Tells How to Give Nature Proper Help So Form Will Quickly Develop

"An unattractive figure," writes Madeleine Jarrett in Fashion Quarterly, "is due to underlying tissues not receiving proper nourishment. When these are aroused they quickly respond, and sensuousness and angular lines vanish, hollows round out and the form assumes the plumpness and symmetry which Nature intended it to have."

A method of treatment that seldom fails, can be prepared in the privacy of the home by making a syrup with one and one-half cups of sugar and a pint of water, to which is added one ounce of grape-nuts. The dose is two spoonfuls before meals."

he is receiving at the time of the application.

Firemen from all over the state were recorded in favor. These included Burton Steele of Springfield, president of the Massachusetts Firemen's association, Henry Cronin of Worcester, John J. Kelley of Lawrence, J. M. McKellogg of Lowell, Chief George L. Johnson of Waltham, all of whom are officers of the Massachusetts Firemen's association.

Representatives Manning, Webster, Wilson of Lynn, Tutts, Hill, Ames, Wallace, Sullivan of Holyoke, Sullivan of Fall River, Oström, Harrop and Anderson, all declared in favor of the measure.

The chief opposition was voiced by James A. Wood of Cambridge, who said that he had always been a friend and father to the firemen in that city but at present occupies no official position. Mr. Wood said that the age limit in the bill (55) is much too low. Many men in the Cambridge department, he said, had reached that age long ago and still were able to lead the younger men at their duties. He thought a mandatory bill to be enacted all principle of home government and takes the power of pensioning out of local hands.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Clerk Gets Robber With Tray of Gems

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Rush hour throngs on Broadway witnessed an attempted holdup yesterday afternoon, gave first aid to the victim and captured one of the assailants.

The holdup was attempted by two men who entered the jewelry establishment of Henry K. Becker & Co., in the financial section.

They wanted to buy diamond earrings, they said.

A clerk brought out a tray containing $5000 worth for their inspection.

They knocked him down, grabbed the gems and bolted for the door, but he regained his feet in time to catch the man with the tray. The clerk recovered the jewelry and held the man until the crowd came to his relief.

The prisoner said he was John Cahill, a teenager, but central office detectives declared that he was Thomas Kelly, a member of the notorious "gas house" gang.

Diez White-Mourners Gather

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—White mourners were arriving at her home yesterday to attend the funeral of her daughter Lena, Mrs. Augusta Smith of Corona, a suburb, collapsed beside the coffin and died within a few minutes. Physicians said Mrs. Smith's death was due to a paralytic stroke superinduced by grief over her daughter's death.

GAVE PLEASANT LECTURE

Wm. B. Goodwin Spoke on Jerusalem

The second in a series of lectures which are being held on Wednesday nights under the auspices of the People's club was delivered last evening by William Bradford Goodwin of this city, the organ expert, and the large audience filled the club rooms. The subject of Mr. Goodwin's talk was "Jerusalem" and every word of it was most interesting and instructive.

To say that the lecture last night was interesting is expressing it mildly for one would be obliged to hear it to fully appreciate its worth and it cannot be described adequately otherwise. It was one of those rare treats which remain with an audience long after the speaker has uttered the last word in the address and which give the thoughtful person sufficient material to ponder over indefinitely. The mere recalling of such a discourse is a pleasure to the one who has listened to it and could appreciate it. Such was the pleasing character of the lecture on "Jerusalem" given under the auspices of the People's club last evening.

The characteristic beauty and general aspect of the country which the speaker described was in some degree shown the audience by the excellent pictures by which the lecture was illustrated and these formed no small feature of the evening. The vast dry expanses of desert land with its security of water was pictured in contrast to the olive groves and pools of other sections.

In his talk, the speaker described the various places made sacred by the presence of Christ in his life upon earth; he told of the various points visited by the Saviour of Men from his birth to his death on Calvary. He took the life of Christ as his special topic but described and related stories of the land itself in a manner that added realism to the subsequent study of the life and doings of Christ.

Mr. Goodwin touched briefly on the churches and their distribution throughout the Holy Land and of the stand of the Turkish government in that territory.

The lecture last night was one of those never-to-be-forgotten discourses and it was highly appreciated and enjoyed by all present. The subject of the talk on next Wednesday evening will be "Beyond the Mediterranean." Admission is free and all are welcome.

WIFE WILL NOT MAKE UP

Mrs. Rantoul Rejects Reconciliation

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Private interviews between Judge Hall and attorneys and principals which lasted until 6 o'clock last night, and rumors of attempts to settle the case or effect a reconciliation, were the features yesterday at the East Cambridge courthouse in the suit of Mrs. Lora Burnett Rantoul, grandmother of the poet James Russell Lowell, for an absolute divorce from Edward L. Rantoul on allegations of cruel and abusive treatment.

After her last interview with Judge Hall alone in his lobby Mrs. Rantoul left the courthouse with her father, Edward Burnett of Jamaica Plain, and the trained nurse who has been in constant attendance upon her.

She had been weeping and was with great difficulty restraining her emotions.

It is known that she absolutely refuses to be reconciled to her husband.

It is generally understood that Mr. Rantoul is willing to forgive and forget his wife's open declaration of "infidelity" last year, but his old college friend, Chester Channing Burnett, brother of the poet, has refused to accept to any arrangement that leaves the unforgotten grave charges of misconduct that Mrs. Rantoul made against him.

He, too, seemed deeply affected after his final interview alone with Judge Hall. He refused to make any statement, as did his attorneys.

THE SUFFRAGIST WIKERS

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 20.—The "On-to-Washington" march left here shortly before 10 o'clock this morning, marching through some of the main streets accompanied by a crowd. Wilmington suffragists walked with them to Newport, the next stop, four miles south, where they were received and entertained by Mrs. Martha S. Cranston, president of the Delaware Equal Suffrage association, who lives there, and other members.

Later the pilgrims pushed on to Stanton, two miles, where there was a mild demonstration and then proceeded to Newark, Del., six miles farther south.

It is the intention to move on during the afternoon to Elkton, Md., where the suffragists will spend the night. Elkton is 15 miles from Wilmington.

Contractor Duffy Dead

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Lawrence Duffy, prominent contractor of Boston for the last 35 years, died at a recent age, known residents of the South End, died at his home, 150 West Canton street, yesterday, as the result of a shock.

He was 61 years old, a member of the cathedral parish, of the Charitable Irish society, of the Winthrop club, Royal Arcanum and of the Ward 12 Concord club. He will be buried Saturday with funeral services at the Cathedral Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

"Boss" Signs as Divorce Cause

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Because her husband would not sign a divorce from their living room which read: "If you want to know who's boss around here—start something," Mrs. Ella P. Zeno, 834 Wolfram avenue, wants a divorce from her husband, William H. Zeno.

Mrs. Zeno also alleges cruelty, giving as an instance a recent quarrel over whether the sign should remain on the wall, in which, she asserts, her husband struck and otherwise abused her.

WOMAN IN

TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bellevue, Ohio.—"I was in a terrible state before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back ached until I thought it would break. I had pains all over me, nervous feelings and periodic troubles. I was very weak and run down and was losing hope of ever being well and strong. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I improved rapidly and today am a well woman. I cannot tell you how happy I feel and I cannot say too much for your Compound. Would not be without it in the house if it cost three times the amount."—Mrs. CHAS. CHAPMAN, R. F. D. No. 7, Bellevue, Ohio.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

300 SAVED BY OPERATOR

4 Firemen Hurt at $75,000 Blaze in Theatre

WORCESTER, Feb. 20.—The coolness and good judgment of Louis Carter, a film operator, saved the lives of 300 persons, many of whom were women and children, and prevented a panic when fire, necessitating a general alarm, destroyed the Family theatre, in the heart of the city, last night.

Only a few minutes after the people had quietly filed through the main doors and emergency exits flames burst from the stage into the building, and before they were extinguished, five firemen later had wrecked the moving picture house and damaged a hotel adjoining, all to the extent of $75,000.

Shortly before 6 o'clock Carter was operating the moving picture machine, when he saw a thin column of smoke issuing from among the wings at the top of the stage.

Shutting off the pictures, he stepped from the booth and calmly announced that no more pictures would be shown and that all present would leave the theatre.

The 300 men, women and children quietly filed out of the building. Carter was among the last to leave. Within a few minutes the building was a furnace of flames.

Two alarms were sounded, but the engines that answered were insufficient and a general alarm was sent in, calling out all fire apparatus.

Less than half an hour after the first alarm had sounded the flames spread to the wing of a hotel adjoining the theatre building. The other parts of the hotel were greatly damaged by smoke and water. It was an hour before the fire was under control and three hours after that before the "all out" signal was rung in.

Four firemen were hurt while fighting the flames. David Gowan and Leonard Babcock were overcome by smoke, but soon revived, and Carl Klesing and W. J. Adams were bruised when knocked down by water from a hose that became momentarily unmanageable. Klesing was taken to a hospital, but was not badly injured.

Woman Sues Wealthy Real Estate Owner

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The price of $10,000 for one hug is fixed in a suit filed by Mrs. Nelson Hopkins against Elisha Berry, a septuagenarian and wealthy real estate owner and operator of New York and Washington. Mrs. Hopkins alleges in her complaint that on Feb. 7 Berry, who owns the building in which she and her husband have their apartment, entered her home on the plea that he desired to inspect the premises and forcibly embraced her. Mrs. Hopkins, who is a comely young woman, believes that the hug should cost Berry at least $10,000 because of the humiliation to which she was subjected.

Two Boys Drown in Ditch

CENTRAL VILLAGE, Conn., Feb. 20.—The 3 and 5-year-old sons of Moses Rabalais of Moosung went through the thin ice of the mill trench at Almyville yesterday afternoon and were drowned.

No one saw the children on the ice or was aware of their danger until a child's cry was heard from the water.

Several persons hurried to the trench but only in time to lift out the lifeless body of the elder boy.

The water in the trench is being drawn off so that the younger boy may be found.

Another Carload of Wall Papers

The Stanley Transportation Co. had several men and trucks busy all day Wednesday unloading the third carload of wall paper received already this year by the United Wall Paper Stores of America, Lowell store in Nelson's Dept. Store. This company is in the midst of a great alteration and remodeling sale and when completed will occupy one-half the entire fourth floor of the Nelson Dept. Store. The carpenters and painters are now working on the last half of their shelving and it is worth anyone's time to take a trip to this store and notice the extensive alterations they are making. We suggest that everyone wanting new wall paper this spring buy now while the prices are low.

EDISON'S LATEST FEAT

He Makes Moving Pictures Talk

LIFE LIKE FIGURES IN THE DRAMA

The Kinetophone Unites the Work of the Phonograph With That of the Camera in Perfect Union

Thomas A. Edison sat back in his chair and chuckled, one afternoon recently, as there passed upon a screen in the theatre of his laboratory at West Orange, N. J., a procession of human beings and animals that sang and talked and simulated and played upon musical instruments and barked and made various other noises that moving pictures have before have furnished. It was a moment of triumph, the result of four years of unremitting effort to give to the world what probably was the only development possible in the "movies," to reproduce sound synchronously with action.

"That's a little raw yet," laughed the wizard, "but you just give us a chance and we'll show you. We're green at working these things yet."

There may have been something "raw" to the trained eyes of Thomas A. Edison, but to other spectators it seemed that success had been achieved. When the time for the show to start came there was a short delay. The "old man" as everybody in the big factory calls Mr. Edison, couldn't be found. Finally he was found and his right hand man and chief engineer, Mr. R. Hutchinson, gave the word to start.

For the first few seconds it looked just like regular "movies." A large man in evening dress strode down a flight of stairs and to the front of a lavishly furnished setting. When he reached the front of the "stage" things began to happen.

First the big man thrust out one arm in customary attitude and then— and even the spectators who had known what was to come were surprised—he began to talk.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, and there followed an introduction to the first exhibition of talking moving pictures, real talking "movies" that has ever been seen. The speech was delivered in carefully modulated tones with articulation of the clearest, each action coinciding exactly with each expression.

It was so lifelike and natural that gasps of surprise and wonderment could be heard from the different parts of the darkened room.

In the course of his talk the speaking picture took up a plate and dashed it to the floor. It flew into pieces with a crash and each fragment made its individual noise in bouncing up and back.

After that the picture blew a horn and a whistle and then a man came on and played the piano. A girl appeared and played "Way Down Town" on the Swanee River, on the violin and another girl sang some of the old songs, while the pianist and the violinist accompanied her.

They went away—you could hear their footsteps as they walked up the stairs—and another man appeared with two coffee cups whose loud barks were as natural as life. It was hard to realize that these were not living beings in flesh and blood until the lights came on and broke the illusion.

That was one complete reel and it had taken just six minutes to show, two minutes longer than the ordinary photograph does revolve.

Four additional "stitches" were exhibited and in each the illusion was maintained. Two of them Mr. Edison hadn't seen himself before and he laughed heartily as a politician in one of them delivered an impassioned political oration which his daughter, standing behind, read to him out of a newspaper. The most startling manifestation of the synchrony of sound and action came when a brick was sent crashing through a window above the speaker's head.

You could plainly hear the tinkle of each piece of glass as it fell.

Kan have been working on the proposition of moving pictures that would talk for a long time. Mr. Edison has been at it for four years. He has literally "slept on the job," as his employees describe his absorption in his work, and when he "sleeps on the job" he has the reputation of making things go.

The moving picture idea is based upon two comparatively old propositions. The talking machine is old and the motion picture machine is old. But they have never been harnessed up together before successfully. Other inventors have had actors talk the piece separately, but the illusion wasn't there, except in spots.

Mr. Edison's way is to have the talking and moving picture machines getting their impressions at the same time. They are set up side by side, at any distance up to 40 feet away from the actors, and as the character's gesture is taken by the "movie," his words are taken by the "talker." When all that is done, the "movie" is placed in its usual place with its rays illuminating the screen back of which is the "talker."

How to get these two machines to work together is the problem on which Mr. Edison has worked four years.

The "tuner" is some sort of contrivance that is coupled up between the two machines. The talking machine can
